—Lee Willard who is playing an engagement at the Opera House, this week, is a former classmate of Miss Grace Gatch at the University of Washington, in which both were students for a number of years. Not only socially, but as an artist and gentleman, Mr. Willard stands very well. He plays Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde tonight.

—Wool is 23 to 25 cents in the local market. The story is that local buyers will not pay a flat price for it this year, but will only give the top price for fine and fine medium. A good many sales have already been made at 25 cents. Some shearing has been done. A Cotswold fleece delivered at a local establishment yesterday weighed 19 pounds. The grower was J. G. Winkle.

—A two year old child in the home of Engineer Moore near the C. & E. depot, while playing in the street, ran in front of a moving truck team near the family home. The little one was knocked down and appeared to passersby, to be trampled on, but after being rescued was found, by a physician who was summoned, to be only badly bruised, without the breaking of bones.

—S. A. Miles, owner of the Hotel Corvallis building, left Wednesday, after a brief business visit in town. He resides at St. Helens in which town he has been prominent citizen for nearly half a century. He was an early settler to Oregon, having resided in the land at a time when there were but seven houses in the place. His narrations of early pioneer life in the state are very interesting by reason of Mr. Miles' unusual intelligence.

Thursday afternoon at the city reservoir there was a little diversion from the usual routine. Superintendent Schultz drove out to the reservoir in a single rig from the City Stables. When he arrived at the works he removed the horse's bridle before unhitching and the animal took fright and ran away with the buggy. After a commendable effort to free itself from the vehicle the horse ran up on the dump and rolled down the embankment. There was very much of a mix-up, and when the entangling alliance was finally dissolved it was found that the buggy had fared badly. Bob Lamberson brought the remains to town. After a consultation of interested parties it was decided to send the parts to the repair shop instead of to the junk dealer.

Suffered for Five Years With Kidney and Liver Trouble. "I suffered for five years with kidney and liver trouble, which caused severe pains across the back and a blinding headache. I had dyspepsia and was so constipated that I could not move my bowels without a cathartic. I was cured by Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and have been well now for six months," says Mr. Arthur S. Strickland of Chattanooga, Tenn. For sale by Graham & Wierman.

THE CITY WON.

The Water Suit—Judge Harris Refused to Issue Injunction.

The last obstacle to the completion of the mountain water system was removed yesterday in a decision handed down by Judge Harris at Eugene, in the suit in which Dr. Farra asked for a temporary injunction to restrain the city from taking water from Rock Creek for domestic and other uses in Corvallis. The decision is adverse to the plaintiff and in favor of the city. In it the court refuses to issue the temporary injunction restraining the city from using Rock Creek water. The order of the court in the matter is as follows:

"It is ordered, decreed and adjudged that the said motion for a preliminary injunction be and the same is hereby denied without prejudice to the plaintiffs to make another application for a preliminary order of injunction in case the defendants should fail to diligently proceed with legal proceedings to acquire what ever right the plaintiff may have in the waters of Rock Creek, sought to be condemned and appropriated by the city of Corvallis for its water city."

The news of Judge Harris decision was received Thursday with much satisfaction. The suit to acquire the rights alluded to in the decision has already been begun in the circuit court and will be brought to an issue at the earliest opportunity. The outcome of the case should simply be a matter of how much a jury thinks the sawmill which Dr. Farra owns on Greasy will be damaged by such water as the city may divert from Rock Creek through the pipe line.

The injunction case was argued at Eugene last Saturday by Judge M. L. Pipes of Portland for the plaintiff, and E. R. Bryson for the city. It was taken under advisement at the time, and the decision rendered yesterday.

Meantime, the construction of the distribution system is being pushed as fast as pipe can be turned out in the Tacoma works. Forty men are trenching the streets today, and are digging at the rate of more than half a mile in 10 hours. More than half a mile of pipe was laid yesterday. The amount of trenching involved in the entire distribution system is 14 miles. A gang of men is at work making concrete for the walls and floor of the reservoir. It is expected to have the reservoir complete in the first days of June and if pipe is received fast enough the whole system will be completed by the middle of the month.

LEE WILLARD CO.

Tonight, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

"Kathleen Mavourneen" was produced last night at the Opera House to a fair sized house. Mr. Willard as Terrance O'Moore sustained well the manly light-hearted Irish boy, who blended his sorrows and joys. Every member of the company is well fitted for his or her part, showing the company to be a well balanced one.

Tonight, Mr. Willard has been persuaded to produce Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, his greatest success. The story of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde is well known, being the product of Robert Louis Stevenson's master brain. Those who have not seen the play should not miss this opportunity.

For Treasurer.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Treasurer of the City of Corvallis subject to the decision of the voters at the coming city election.
