LETTERS FROM ELIZA.

The wiggle-waggles have issued another manifesto to the republican voters, and in it they say, "the primary election law must be maintained, and the only way to maintain it is to elect every republican candidate, county and otherwise." Of course, the wiggle-waggles want the primary law. It is the slickest thing for their purposes they ever struck. With it, they jobbed Bill Jolly, and horsed Andy Williams to a standstill, and along with these two men jobbed every one of the 300 of the sovereign voters that supported both. Not one of these republicans had a chance for his life in voting. The thing was already fixed by the wiggle-waggles before the voting time came. They knew and boasted beforehand that George Smith would be the nominee for commissioner, Woodward the man for judge, and Johnnie Allen for precinct committeeman. It was also boasted on the street that Belknap would never be nominated for senator, and that if he should be a democrat not Belknap would be elected. All this history. All this treachery shameful as it is, is fact. The figures at the court house don't lie. They show why Belknap, why Jolly, why Williams and the others are down and out, and how the gang nearly fixed Hawley with a democrat from Washington county. Hence, the manifestoes, calling on the brethren to "stand in." The bunch jobs 'em, gouges 'em, chisels 'em, gives 'em a swift kick, and then sends 'em letters full of affection and love from Eliza and the children, and with slush about the dear old party, to get 'em to "stand in" and be jobbed again.

As a surveyor, it has come to be conceded that Thomas Jones is exactly the man for the position, and that is why he is on the ticket for re-election without opposition. He is a member of the county board of road viewers, as well as largely identified by law with the bridge-building and because of his competency in these regards, Mr. Jones is by all conceded to be the man for the place.

It is true that E. Woodward is a gentle, kindly, honorable old gentleman, but it can not be wiped out that Roadmaster Smith, if both should be elected, would be commissioner, court, county judge, and the whole blooming republican party. Smith's friends are claiming his election to a certainty which makes it all the more important to put a strong young business man in the person of E. E. Wilson in the courts county judge.

Who knows Mr. Piel? Mr. Gruge: says he does, but who knows Mr. Gruge? They say Mr. Piel has been keeping books up in one corner of Benton for two or three years, and that he is a nice young man. Grant all that, what then? Seventy-five thousand dollars a year in taxes to be handled! Seventy-five thousand of the people's money—trust funds to be looked after! Hadn't old reliable Tilt Burnett better be kept as sheriff? Tilt Burnett, the man to whom taxpayers all over the county send signed checks with the amount left open for him to fill in?

HERE is an ideal arrangement for the county court of Benton: Peter Rickard, a farmer, commissioner who resides in Southern Benton, 10 miles distant from the county seat; E. E. Wilson, county judge, residing outside the city limits of Corvallis, with property in town and a farm four miles west of the county; Paul Dodele, a farmer, residing in northern Benton, 10 miles from the county seat. By that arrangement, every interest of every section of the whole county would be represented and provided for, and there would be no close cooperation with a judge from the Third ward and a commissioner from the Second ward in the city of Corvallis.

E. E. Wilson is not the candidate of the democrats particularly, but of a great many republicans who wanted a vigorous young business man as presiding officer of the county court. Mr. Wilson is bitterly opposed to the office of roadmaster.

AND THEY KNOW IT.

The Joshuas of republicanism, that trio who go in to a sort of Creffield trance and get their inspiration from on high to communicate it to their flock in the shape of manifestoes, and who reside in that part of Benton county beginning at Jim Smith's hardware store and running thence via George Roadmaster Smith's poultry parlors to the back door of John Allen's drug store, in their latest dissemination to their followers, say "To the victors belong the spoils" and that when democrats are in office republicans get nothing. Was that statement really from above, or did the roadmaster fall into a trance and think it out? How as to the facts? Did Governor Chamberlain appoint Judge Harris, a republican, to the circuit judgeship in this district? Did the same governor appoint many other republicans to office, and has he conducted the office on a strictly nonpartisan basis? Did a democratic court in Benton county appoint more republicans than democrats to road supervisorships? Here is the list: W G Davis, district No. 1, rep; H M Fleming, No. 2, dem; William Schmidt, No. 3, rep; O L Davis, 4, dem; T B Williamson, 5, rep; John Price, Kings Valley, dem; W M Clark, Summit, dem; A Cadwalader, Blodgett, rep; W P McGee, Wren, dem; J R Fehler, Philomath, rep; Jasper Hayden Aleson, rep; Chancery Barclay, Bellfountain, dem; Richard McBee, No. 12, rep; Albert Zierolf, Monroe, rep; Richard Scott, Willamette, rep; W J Warfield, Aleson, rep; Henry Hector, Fairmount, dem; B W Harris, Wells, dem; Roy Rickard, No. 21, dem; and A M Gray, 22, dem; M C Leeper, 23, rep; Robert Kyle, Bellfountain, rep; D. B. Farley, Monroe, rep; total democrats, 10; total republicans, 13.

How about this? Was there not a lie in that last manifesto, a great big lie? Does republicanism and republican privileges and principles depend upon a lie? Not by a long shot. Do the sound, substantial republican ones of Benton county want lies told by the official heads of the party in Benton, and told to republicans themselves for the purpose of deceiving and duping them? No, indeed, no! Do not the solid, substantial high minded republicans, and there are lots of them in Benton county, know, that every time one of these manifestoes is sent out, planned as it is by the outfit in the vicinity of the poultry parlor and dominated and guided by the roadmaster himself, reproach, humiliation and misrepresentation is brought upon the party? Of course they know it.

"To the victors belong the spoils." That is the motto on the g-r-e-a-t manifestoes sent out to Benton republicans with orders as to how they are required to vote, which orders emanate from that very small part of Benton county beginning at Jim Smith's hardware store and running thence via George Roadmaster Smith's poultry parlors to the back door of John Allen's drug store. It was Andrew Jackson, peace to his ashes, one of the fathers of democracy that originated "To the victors belong the spoils." It was democratic doctrine until the party, in order to keep step with advancing civilization, had to throw it aside. "To the victors belong the spoils" as a motto of republicanism!! Shades of Lincoln!! Into what paths of democratic iniquity are Chairman Smith, Secretary Allen and the roadmaster leading their brethren? Have their leader's gone democratic entirely since they supported for congress Huston, a democrat, over Hawley, a republican?

Sol King was the old sheriff of Benton, and he served a good many terms. Lots of republicans used to vote hard against him, but he had many a democratic friend, and these voted for and kept him in office because they liked him as an official. Sol was always non-partisan in conducting the office, and the democrats were non-partisan in electing him, though he was a republican.

A THIRD MANIFESTO.

Two Already Mailed to Republicans by Their Chairman and Another Ready Here it is.

Corvallis, Ore., May 27, 1906. My children: I am Cheermin of the party. This utter feller is sickreery. We got a pard named George Roadmaster Smith wot runs his chicken biz clog to our biz. My children you must not vote for them dimocrats coz they'll git the postoffice from Bertey Jonson, and git small-pocks in the poor house. Oh them nasty stinkin dimocrats iz horrid and ef they ever cum pesterin aroun me and my sickreery and our frend Smith we'll bust their blame heds, thats all. Why they say ever one of 'em hez got the itch and that their fathers wuz all boss thieves an stump-suckers, and the verry idee of sich cussed felers a-cummin-roun an axin-me—and my children an the Roadmaster and my Sickreery to vote fur em fur Office, why mi God, children, that Vic Moses and thet Ed Wilson an that Telt Burnett ought to be in the penitentiery, an its blame liklie that they'll git there afore they git offis. Now you children keep your noses wiped and vote er state coz ef ye dont, the country's gone to hel.

ELIZA. Cheermin of the publican party. p. s.—Tew the vickers belong the spiles—Andy Jackson.

ATTACKING CHAMBERLAIN.

It is general belief that A. J. Johnson, republican candidate for senator, makes a grave mistake when he attacks Governor Chamberlain. There are some things that even "Senator" Johnson cannot wipe out. It was Governor Chamberlain that loaned the state school money. Before Governor Chamberlain's time the state treasurer had been loaning the money and pocketing the interest, $28,000 a year, and nobody denies it. In the court house at Corvallis, Governor Chamberlain four years ago promised that the school funds should be loaned, they have been loaned, and as a result, $45,000 additional per year goes to the school children of Oregon. It is equally true that Governor Chamberlain vetoed 29 bills and no republican governor would have done it, because to have done so would have been to arouse the ire of the republican legislature and through that be ruined politically. It is true that every one of those 29 vetoes saved dollars and dollars to the taxpayers, reducing the state taxes of Benton to about $12,000, the lowest they have been in fifteen years. It is true that Governor Chamberlain cleaned out the state land office, got land thieves indicted, exposed frauds, and listed and brought into the market lands to the value of $195,000. These and scores of other acts by Governor Chamberlain are known to all the people of Benton county, and Mr. Johnson reckons wrong when he attacks the governor. Governor Chamberlain lived for something like 20 years almost within a stone's throw of Corvallis and it is the governor's old neighbors that Mr. Johnson is talking to, when he makes his attacks.

The prettiest and best set of records in the state of Oregon is in the county clerk's office of Benton. They are typewritten, and as neat and correct as records can be made. To add to their great value, is the fact that they are accurate, for the man that made these new records is Victor Moses who is one of the most accurate clerks in the country. These records that he makes are the pride of every Benton countyite who has ever seen them, and the envy of people from other counties. He makes these records with his own book type writer, which he purchased at the price of $175 and has placed at the disposal of the county. It certainly seems as though an official that does all these things for the people of the county deserves to be given another term. As a matter of naked fact, isn't it wrong to vote against him when in the service he has given, there is so much to applaud?
