

MID-SUMMER SALE!

J. M. NOLAN & SON

The first two weeks of Our Sale have been a phenomenal success, enthusiastic throngs visit our store, and scores bought. We know that buyers became advertisers because of the great values they received, and the good news will spread. Therefore, the next two weeks' buying should be even more attractive than the first. The eager throngs did not carry away all the good things. From now until August 11th we will make strenuous efforts to clean up before our new fall stock arrives. Read following condensed bargain list and profit thereby. Remember Aug 11 is last day.

ASYLUM FIRE.

Big Blaze There This Morning, but the Building was Saved.

Salem July 27th.—For a time this forenoon the destruction of the main wing of the Insane Asylum was threatened. Fire broke out at 10:30 a. m. in the garret over wards one, two and three in the main wing. The garret over these wards was gutted and very heavy damage by water resulted. As soon as the alarm was given the inmates were hurried into the East and South wings, but no casualties were occasioned. The Salem and penitentiary fire departments responded and a strenuous fight was made to save the building. The fire at this hour, 1:18 p. m., is under control. The loss will probably reach $30,000. The origin is unknown, but is probably defective wiring.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Graham & Wortham.

FORMER CORVALLISITE

Waylaid and Badly Beaten by Liquor Dealer—George Eglin.

George Eglin, formerly of Corvallis, now a detective in the employ of the Anti-Saloon League, was waylaid and badly beaten by an operator of a "blind pig" at Cottage Grove Wednesday night. The story is told in the Portland Telegram as follows:

"With his face so badly bruised and beaten as to be almost unrecognizable, G. F. Eglin, one of the detectives in the employ of the Oregon Anti-Saloon League, reported at the office of Paul Rader, head of the league, yesterday and told of a fray at Cottage Grove last night with one of the warlike opponents of the cause for which the Anti-Saloon League stands.

"Eglin, according to Mr. Rader, was the chief factor in securing the arrest and conviction of a number of operators of "blind pigs" at Florence, recently, and with his work finished there he went to Cottage Grove on a similar mission. At the Grove it appears that he had a case against a number of illegal liquor sellers about worked up, when he happened to be recognized by someone who had known of his work at Florence. This man notified one of the Cottage Grove liquor men of his discovery, and told him just what Eglin was doing.

"The saloonman, one of the number, against whom Eglin was working, lay in wait, and at night in a dark place, caught the young man on the street and gave him an unmerciful beating. Eglin is slight of stature, while his antagonist was of heavy build, so the young sleuth had no show for an even-handed fight. Several brass knuckle bruises were left on his face, his eyes were blackened and he was otherwise the worse for the encounter with the crooked liquor dealer."

A Good Definition.

"Pa, what is a psychological moment?" asked a Virginia farm boy of his father, says Lippincott's Magazine. "I've read so much about it," continued the boy, "and even the dictionary doesn't give a definition of it."

"A psychological moment? Let me see," said the father meditatively. "Well, now did you ever notice your Ma when she's hanging out a washin'? Did you ever see the old clothesline break and let the whole blame lot fall into the mud? Well, that's a psychological moment—a moment when you had better have urgent business in the barn."
