—If an ordinance passed Monday night shall be signed by the mayor, most of the sidewalks hereafter to be built in Corvallis will have to be built of cement. The limits for such walks are so extended by the ordinance that about 50 blocks are added to the cement district. The new district runs from the south side of Washington to the north side of Van Buren and as far west as the west side of Ninth.

—A team of four horses and wagon had right of way on Main street for a few seconds this forenoon. The horses took fright at the street sprinkler and in the first jump dumped the driver. They ran down Main and out on Monroe, turning at the old Evangelical church corner southward, where one of the horses fell under the wagon and the mad flight abruptly ended. Both hind legs got between the spokes of a front wheel, while the gearing of the wagon rested on his body. Some time was required in extricating him and his squealing while the operation was in progress made the job sensational. The damage to horses and vehicle was only nominal. The outfit belonged to C. L. Traxler.

—Two Coos bay men were in town yesterday, getting signers to a petition asking the government to further improve Coos bay harbor. They were Peter Loggie, president, and Carl Albright, traveling representative of the North Bend chamber of commerce. They expect heavy work to begin soon on the railroad that is to be built from Marshfield to Drain. The distance is 82 miles. Harriman has set aside four millions for the project. The survey is completed, and 40 miles of the right of way secured. It is believed that the contracts for the work have been let.

—On the out trip of the mid-week excursion over the C. & E. to Newport Wednesday, one of the coaches got on fire, and a delay of 20 minutes was occasioned while the blaze was being extinguished. The stop of the train was in the vicinity of Nashville, and the passengers swarmed from the coaches while the wait was on. The origin of the fire was supposed to have been a cigar carelessly dropped by a smoker. An old lady passenger declared on the subject of smokers and men when she heard why the train was stopped, saying, "Yes, the men will smoke, no matter what they buy. A whole city block was burned the other day by a boy with a cigarette."
