Fisher sells the Trowbridge piano.

—Among the new students at the college is a son of State Treasurer Moore of Salem, and a son of Judge H.L. Benson, of Klamath county.

—Rickard Irwin is the owner of a fancy buck sheep. The animal is of the Lincoln breed, and was purchased of Stump, the well known Polk county breeder. The Lincoln sheep have been used by Peter Whitaker and Monroe Childers for several years, and are fast becoming popular in Southern Benton.

—Philomath College opened Wednesday with a fine attendance. An address of welcome to the students was delivered by O. V. White dean of the faculty. The opening programme included, a vocal duet, Mrs. Fisher and Prof. Goodrich; address, Bishop Castle, "What may we expect of you," reading, Miss Johnson; duet, Mrs. Fisher and Miss Sheak; and vocal solo, Prof. Goodrich. Prof. Gressly of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, has arrived and will be principal of the commercial department. Prof. Goodrich is the new professor of mathematics, and is counted a strong addition to the faculty. An excellent year is anticipated by all friends of the college.

—The hop house in the yard operated under a lease by Newton Alford near Philomath was burned yesterday morning, together with 25,000 pounds of dried hops stored in the building. The yard has always been known as the Zimmerman yard, and is one of the oldest in the valley. The fire occurred about five o'clock in the morning, and everything about the house was destroyed. Five or six thousand pounds of unpicked hops were still on the vines, enough to make about five days picking for the force employed in the yard. These will be saved by picking them and drying them in other driers. The loss is about $6,000, but is fully covered by insurance in the McMinnville company. The origin of the fire is supposed to be defective flues in the drier, which was old and badly worn.

—George Himes, who is the leading spirit in the Oregon Historical Society left today after a visit of a couple of days in Corvallis. During his stay he interviewed several old pioneers, securing much material for the use of the society. A complete file of the Oregon City Argus was secured a short time ago by Mr. Himes from D. W. Craig, the publisher of the paper, who now resides at an advanced age near Salem. He also has a file of the Occidental Messenger, a paper that was published by "Long Primer" Hall and Tony Noltner in Corvallis about 1858. The society rooms are in the City Hall at Portland where there is a collection of articles of great historic value, a chief portion of which has been gathered by Mr. Himes. In Corvallis interviewed Sol King, A. M. Witham, Mrs. Martha Avery and others.

—A man fresh from San Francisco throws illumination around the calamity that befell that city last April. They were moving the debris from the ruins of a huge sky scraper there the other day, and he looked on. Scores of bodies he says were taken out from beneath the ruins. In one spot what seemed to be a family of five from their proximity to each other and general appearances, was found. Underneath ruins everywhere bodies are found and instead of the small figures at which the fatalities of that terrible week are placed, he says the victims are to be counted by the tens of thousands, reaching an enormous total. The true facts of the appalling loss of life he declares are not for prudential reasons, disclosed by the newspapers or correspondents.

—The case of Mrs. F. M. Martin is attracting considerable attention. She is the wife of F. M. Martin who, about a year ago purchased and settled on the farm of A. F. Tyler on Beaver Creek. Recently she went to St Johns to attend a campmeeting, and while she was there, her husband here received intelligence that she had become mentally deranged. He hurried to the scene, and after a time had her removed to the insane asylum. Wednesday morning he received notice from the asylum authorities that Mrs. Martin's condition was critical and that he must come at once. Mr. Martin answered the summons with all haste, and his friends here are anxiously awaiting further news. The statement is that Mrs. Martin's condition is not due to religious excitement, occasioned by the services, but that on the contrary she is not excitable and of unusually quiet demeanor.

—Wheat 58; oats, 26 to 29.

—City water rent due and payable in advance at the office in the City Hall.

—The enrollment at the college passed the 600 mark yesterday. It is about 65 in advance of last year at the same time.

—Office of the City Water Works located in City Hall. Water rent is due on the first and delinquent on the eleventh of each month.

—Coach Norcross arrived at noon and is at the Corvallis. He is about as tall as Dr. Steckle, but of lighter build. He was captain and quarter of last year's Michigan team. He is out on the football field this afternoon.

—The conference of the M. E. church South, will convene in this city next Thursday Oct. 4th. Besides the bishop, Dr. Lambeth, missionary secretary, Dr. Hammin, secretary of education, Dr. Lamar, book agent, Dr. Vaughn, editor of the Advocate, other church notables will be here. All are cordially invited to attend all the business meetings, as much will be new and instructive.

—One of the finest bred goats in the country has been brought into Benton county. He was purchased of a Monmouth breeder by A. M. Gray, and arrived Wednesday. His sire was imported from Africa, and cost $600. The Gray goat is a yearling, and will be remembered by many as being winner of the second prize at the Lewis and Clark fair. He cost the Benton county man $40 cash, besides the freight.

—Chittim is soaring. As high as six cents has been paid in the local market for old bark. One crop that came in from Five Rivers went at that figure. For this season's peel five cents has been paid and it is stated on good authority that as high as five and a half is obtainable for first class bark. Even at the big figures very little bark is being delivered, because the peel for the season is very limited.

—They tell of the thrift of evergreen blackberries in the Alsea valley and of how on account of their great size and fine flavor, somebody ought to preserve and put them on the market. Some who have seen them claim there is opportunity there for a big industry. The sweetness and the size of the berries are not the only inducement. On the Ruble farm for instance, the vines have grown with such thrift that 30 acres of fine bottom land has been literally taken by them. The vines climb the small trees and the berries hang in great clusters like grapes, making a picture of great beauty. On another farm in the vicinity there are 25 acres literally gone to blackberries, and in this tract, as well as on the Ruble farm, practically the whole crop goes to waste. Here is another circumstance favorable to a cannery for Corvallis.

—The funeral of Abram Underhill, for 30 years a citizen of Benton occurred today at Hulbert chapel, across the river in Linn. The service was conducted by Rev. Hurd of Corvallis. The deceased was born in Vermont May, 29, 1825, and at 13 moved to Illinois. In 1865 he went to Brooklyn, Iowa, in 1875 to Albany, Oregon, in 1877 to Summit, Benton county, in 1886 to Philomath, where two years ago Mrs. Underhill died. Since that time he has lived among his children who are, H. Underhill and Mrs. McFarland, Summit; Mrs. Hulbert, Albany and Mrs. Bogue, Gold Hill. He was aged 81 years, three months and 28 days. He was married in 1854 to Olive Marvel of Prophetstown, Illinois.

TWO HUNDRED GO EAST.

Gene Simpson's China Pheasants—Big Shipment Leaves Monday For Kansas.

Two hundred China pheasants are to leave Corvallis next Monday for the state of Kansas. They are shipped there in response to an order from the authorities, and are to be used in stocking the state with these highly prized game birds.

They were grown and are to be shipped by Gene M. Simpson, who is perhaps the leading as well as the most successful pheasant fancier in the West. They go by express and the charges on them will be anywhere from $150 to $200. Sixty birds were shipped by Mr. Simpson to the same address last year. The figures received for the present shipment have not been made public, but they are known to be above the usual price of $2.50 per bird. Mr. Simpson has raised 400 pheasants this season, and after making the shipment he will have an even 200 left. But for the heavy rains in June which was very destructive to the pheasant broods, his aggregate of birds would have been much larger.
