BRUTAL WORK

RULER OF ANNAM THROWS WOMEN TO MAN-EATING BEASTS.

Suspends Some of His Wives by Pincers in Their Limbs— Burns Them and Eats One—Other News.

Marseilles, France, Oct. 17.—The mail advices which reached here today from Indo China brought another and more revolting story of the doings of King Thanh-Thai, of Annam, showing that he went to the extent of cannibalism. After killing one of his wives he caused the body to be carved and served for dinner, forcing his entourage to eat it under pain of death.
Some of the king's wives were bound and burned with burning oil and subjected to other cruelty, while naked women were thrown into cages with beasts, where they were devoured before the eyes of the king. Finally the French authorities stepped in and made a prisoner of Thanh-Thai, who has been adjudged insane by Dr. Dumars, of the French Colonial staff.
The royal guard has been disbanded, the palace has been placed under the protection of 15 native soldiers and the terror stricken inmates of the palace have been rescued from further suffering. The majority of the latter were women, who bore the marks of revolting tortures. Some of them were terribly mutilated, their faces being slashed and tongues cut out, while others had been suspended by pincers attached to the fleshy parts of their legs.

Portland Journal: Officials at the court house are telling of a speech made by a young missionary who went to the new sub-jail at the Kelly Butte rock quarry to preach to the rockpile gang.
After the prisoners had all been rounded up in the main corridor of the jail, and the usual opening song and lesson reading had been accomplished, an expectant quiet settled over the convicts as the young minister stepped out and started his address. He began: "My dear friends, I am very glad to see so many of you here before me this morning."
Even the severe discipline of the prison could not suppress the shout of amusement from the prisoners at this statement, and the minister's effort at apology and explanation was drowned as the prisoners threw aside all restraint and laughed heartily.
Order was soon restored, and the minister proceeded with his sermon. When the gang was taken out this morning to crush rock, a wag doing penance, expressed his pleasure at seeing so many of his companions before him. The preacher's opening statement promises to become a standing joke among the rockpile gang.

erson Davis, who has been ill of pneumonia at the Hotel Majestic, is still alive today, but her death it is said, is not far off. Mrs. Davis took a sudden change for the worse last night, and her physicians say the end is only a question of hours. Her only surviving daughter, Mrs. J. Allison Hayes, and other relatives remained near her bedside throughout the night. Mrs. Davis is 80 years old.
A clergyman, who was hurriedly summoned to Mrs. Davis' room, remained with her a short time, and as he left the hotel he said she was unconscious and sinking rapidly. Dr. Webb, who has been in constant attendance in the sickroom since late last night, said that the end was momentarily expected.

New York, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the President of the Confederacy, who had been ill for a week at the Hotel Majestic in this city, died at 10:25 o'clock tonight. Death was due to pneumonia induced by a severe cold which Mrs. Davis contracted upon her return from the Adirondacks, where she had spent the summer months.
It is understood that services will be held here by her pastor and it is definitely known that the body will repose beside that of the late president of the Confederacy in Richmond.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The Chicago Clearing House Association today sent to James Keeley, managing editor of the Chicago Tribune, a check for $5,000, the amount of the reward offered by the association for the capture of Paul O. Stensland the former president of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, who was arrested in Tangier and who is now serving a sentence in the penitentiary at Joliet.
Mr. Keeley for the Tribune, at once turned the check over to the receiver of the bank to be included among the assets and to be ultimately distributed among the depositors. In addition the Tribune, which bore the entire expense incident to the pursuit, capture and return of Stensland, has made a present to the taxpayers of Cook county of the total sum expended in the undertaking, which amounts to another $5,000.

(Life): President Arthur Hadley, of Yale, had a couple of sons who inherit a good deal of the genius and independent thought of their father. One morning Mrs. Hadley got up and went into the bathroom and found her youngest, aged about 5, busy sailing tin swans and fish in the bathtub, guiding them with a magnet. She gathered up the toys and told the youngest that he must defer his amusement, as his papa wanted to take his bath.
The kid submitted with bad grace, but went out into the street. Presently he met a lady.
"Do you want to know something?" he remarked. "The president of Yale College won't have any bath this morning. Do you want to know why? 'Cause I have got the plug to the bathtub in my pocket, and it's going to stay there, see."

Cleveland, O., Oct. 16.—Mayor Tom L. Johnson in an interview with Professor Gates, one of the theological instructors of the University of Chicago, asserted that the institution teaches lies.
He said that everything he heard of the university reminded him of the man with the bald head and wig. He could not help but believe that John D. Rockefeller, who pays half the institution's bills, must have something to say concerning the things taught there.
Professor Gates called on the mayor today to get some information about the street railway situation. The mayor suggested that the university teachers were not allowed to deal with such questions. Professor Gates denied that such was the case and asserted that they were perfectly free to think as they liked.
If you keep abreast of the times and say what you think concerning the social and political conditions, you would lose your job," said the mayor. "If you study political economy and say what you think, you strike at your endowments. I have no love for the Chicago University. It teaches lies. Whenever I hear it mentioned, I think of the bald-headed man with a wig."

IN GOOD DEMAND

TIRE OF POUNDING TYPEWRITER, MISS MAGIE OFFERS HERSELF TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER.

She Says Things Are Coming Her Way and She Is Not Washing This Week—Verdict Against New York Central Railroad for Rebating.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Elizabeth Magie, the young stenographer who decided that typewriting at $10 a week was "hell," as she expressed it, and offered to sell herself at auction to the highest bidder, is not washing her own shirts this week. According to a personal letter, not intended for publication, which she has sent to her mother in Washington, she has received an ocean of "bids" to her "For Sale" advertisement, which did not get into the advertising columns of Chicago papers because of the alertness of a "front counter boy," which resulted in her getting all the space she wanted and starting on the front page of the newspaper instead of in the want ads. on the 17th page. One bid is from a millionaire. The letter to her mother follows:
"Dear Folks at home:— There's something doing. I am in it. Things are coming my way. By one fell-swoop, I have arrived. I can have anything I want, from foreign titles to $100,000 in cash; place as servant; dime museum freak, or star. I have marriage proposals by the bushel from men who have discovered in me their affinity; publishers want me to write books; newspapers want my services; every body wants my picture. I have been interviewed by dozens. I have laughed over some letters and cried over others. An auctioneer has sent me his card. Wasn't that a joke? But I have cried over letters from poor girls who are having the same hell time to live as I had.
"But don't worry about me, dearie, I am the same old girl—out for honor, truth and a square deal all around. I'll stand by my document but I won't vouch for interviewees. Yellow journals are the damndest liars in the world. Just see how much lingerie they made out of nothing but a ten cent gauze undershirt. I have received some excellent expressions of commendation and appreciation from those who readily understand. Upton Sinclair, author of the "Jug" says that my letter is wonderful and that I have the making of a revolutionist. "I am not washing my shirts this week. I haven't time."
 Lovingly Yours,
 ELIZABETH.

New York, Oct. 17.—A verdict of guilty of granting rebates on sugar shipments was returned by a jury in the United States court here today against the New York Central railroad company and Frederick L. Pomeroy, the company's general traffic manager. Sentence was deferred until Friday to permit the attorneys for the defense to file motions with the court.
According to the provisions of the Elkins act, under which the convictions were returned, the maximum penalty is a fine of $20,000. As both the central and the personal defendant, Frederick L. Pomeroy, are convicted by the decision of the jury on all of the counts charged in the indictment the total fine for each can be $120,000.
Letters from Lowell M. Palmer, manager of the traffic business of the sugar refining company, to Mr. Pomeroy, acknowledging the receipt of drafts amounting to thousands of dollars, were admitted. It is charged that these drafts represented the payment of a rebate of 5 cents per hundredweight on shipments of sugar to W. H. Edgar & Son.
When the prosecution announced that it would rest, Mr. Lindsay said the defendants would offer no evidence. He then made a motion to dismiss on the grounds that the corporation could not be made a co-defendant. The motion was denied. The jury was out an hour.
