—Miss Ethel Linville left Sunday for Carlton, for a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. A. Morrison.
 —Charles Schoel, who conducted a meat market for some time at Springfield and later resided at Albany, has returned to Corvallis to locate permanently.
 —It may be of interest to Corvallis theatre-goers to know that Manager Groves refused to book five companies last month and three already this month, on account of his policy of engaging only first class attractions.
 —A. J. Cator, who was accidentally through the ankle last week, has been brought to Corvallis, where treatment will be more convenient. The bullet passed diagonally through the ankle joint crushing several bones. A piece of bone twice the size of a marble was removed yesterday morning. Dr. Pernot, who has the case, has hopes of saving the limb.
 —George Taylor living west of town, sold sixteen pigs the other day to a local buyer for $219. Their average was seven months. Their only feed was 100 bushels of cracked wheat, worth 56 cents a bushel and the chopping. They were sold at five and three fourths on foot. Hogs are a paying crop in Willamette.
 —On a back street the other night, a citizen, carrying a lantern was engaged in a search for something he had apparently lost. Around and around in the vicinity of a certain spot he kept searching. A passerby came along, and stopping on the sidewalk, observed the lonely searcher. At last his interest got the better of him and lifting his voice, he inquired: "What have you lost there, neighbor?" Holding his lantern aloft and gazing searchingly around, the seeker replied, "There's a street light here somewhere, and I am trying to find it."
 —There is very general satisfaction over the increase by the council of the salary of Night Officer Osburn from $50 to $60 per month. The vote for the advance was unanimous and was made on the ground of the higher price of necessities and the corresponding increase in the cost of living. It was also made because Mr. Osburn is a faithful and extremely capable officer, one of the best Corvallis has ever had. Though, as experience has proven, an officer's life is often in great hazard, Mr. Osburn's salary now is no more than that received by laborers.
 —Benton county is sending apples to Portland to use in proving that Willamette apples are as good as those grown at Hood River. The show is at the instigation of Millard Lowsdale, and was born of the discussion of Willamette apples as compared with Hood River, which discussion was precipitated by the TIMES. The shipment of Benton apples for participation in the show went down yesterday. They are consignments from the orchards of George Armstrong, from the Meeker orchard, and several boxes contributed by Frank Groves.
 —The water cases, which it was expected would be heard at the coming term of the circuit court, are to go over to the spring term. Stipulations by the attorneys today provided for the postponement. The cases are two in number, one in which Dr. Farra seeks to enjoin the city from taking water from Rock Creek on account of the sawmill he owns near Philomath. The other case is condemnation proceedings brought by the Water Board for taking water out of Rock Creek in which Dr. Farra is named as defendant.
 —The light and water committee of the council is keeping an eye on the electric lights these nights. Whether or not it was one of the committee that hunted with a lantern the other night for a street light and couldn't find it, is not known but some people aver that it was. The city council referred last month's light bill to the committee. Complaint has been made that the lights are not what they were before the long franchise was granted, and far short of what they used to be when Johnson Porter ran the establishment. They were excellent lights that Mr. Porter gave Corvallis. They burned steady and gave a strong, clear light that was satisfactory to everybody. There are councilmen who think the company ought to be required to give as good lights as Porter did, or that their pay ought to be withheld. The light and water committee is Covell, Holmes and Lilly.

—Miss Ilda Jones of Brooks, is a guest at the Withycombe home.
 —Mrs. Sarah Elgin left Saturday for Portland, where she expects to remain a month.
 —Mrs. A. J. Metagar was the guest over Sunday of Portland relatives.

—Jas. Flitt returned today from a few days business at Newport.
 —Mrs. Charles E. Hunt has issued invitations for a "tea" next Saturday afternoon.
 Pat: "What be yer charge for a funeral notice in yer paper?"
 Editor: "Half a crown an inch."
 "Good heavens! A'n me poor brother was six feet high."

—About twenty chinamen came out from the bay this morning on their way to Portland. They had been working at Yaquina in the cannery during the fishing season just closed.
 —Coach Norcross, Manager McAllister and Tom Nolan went to Eugene Friday evening with the expectation of witnessing the Washington Eugene game. They returned Sunday.

—Dr. A. C. Stockle and Bruce Shorts have been accepted as officials for Saturdays football game between Eugene and O. A. C.
 "That," said the teacher "is what is called an 'idiom'. Now can any little boy or girl explain what an idiom is?"
 "Yes'm," promptly replied Tommy Skrapps, "dat's w'at mom sez pop is most o' de time."

—The statement is that no excursion of students will come down from Eugene for the OAC-U. of O. annual game on College field next Saturday. An effort to sell 100 excursion tickets is said to have failed. Of course there is yet plenty of time to get up an excursion, and it is possible that one might be arranged. Such is the story of a Corvallis man who came down from Eugene Sunday. A feeling of perfect confidence in a sweeping victory is said to pervade University circles. Of course, the Eugene men have by far the best end of the contest by reason of the veteran players in their team as compared with the OAC team with but one player handed down from a past season.

—There is apparently going to be a big run on the keyless boxes that will be the equipment of the new postoffice. They are the latest thing, being newly improved over all others in use on the Pacific Coast. They are self-lockers. They are so simple a child can work them if armed with the combination. The combination device is so fine that nobody can study out the combination or get into a neighbors box. The boxes are capable of millions of different combinations, no two being the same. Deposits, in the new office will have to be made for keys. It is surmised that nearly all the people will use the keyless boxes.

 The regular November term of the circuit court for Benton county begins next Monday. It is probable that there will be the usual preliminary session next Saturday, though no notice of it has yet been given.  R. E. Fawver plff. vs. John W. Fawver, William Fawver, defts. Suit.

AFTER TWELVE YEARS.
Corvallis Man Visits old Scenes—Lives in Icy North—Thomas Jeffreys.

Thomas Jeffreys, lawyer, ex-member of the legislature, ex-Corvallisite, dropped into town yesterday after an absence of twelve years. He came to visit his son who is a student at OAC. He is scarcely changed at all in personal appearance in spite of the added winters. He is a resident of Nome City, where he is engaged in the practice of law. He has been there seven years, all the winters but one having been spent there. He came down to the States a month ago, and will spend the winter in Portland. It is understood that he has a large law practice and that he has cleaned up a handsome competence. He is attorney for five of the biggest mining corporations in the Nome country. After another year at Nome, he expects to return to Oregon to reside.
 Nome is a city of 4,000 in the winter, and 8,000 to 15,000 in the summer. It has wooden buildings, and a water system, which freezes up after four months of summer weather and remains frozen the rest of the year. Water is hauled and peddled around town from neighboring creeks during eight months freeze up. A good electric light system, a telephone system extending to all parts of the country, and a wireless telegraph system to St. Michael, are among the conveniences. The wires of the wireless telegraph system are never down, but the wire system to which it is connected at St. Michael is down at least two days in the week Mr. Jeffreys says.
 Mr. Jeffreys observes great and favorable growth in Corvallis. He left today for Portland.
