THE GREAT KLAMATH BASIN

Of Southern Oregon and Northern California
Is a country of wonderful resources now being rapidly developed by the government's irrigation system and by railroad building.

The Klamath Reclamation Project,

Undertaken by the United States involves the expenditure of about Five Million Dollars. It comprises two distinct systems—the Lower Project, now building, of which Klamath Falls is the distributing point, and

The Upper Klamath Project

Of which Bonanza is the Metropolis. The government has announced that work on the Upper Project will begin as soon as possible in the Spring of 1907.

This means that

will grow as Klamath Falls has grown; that a million dollars paid as wages to government laborers will be spent in Bonanza; that 65,000 acres tributary to Bonanza, will be brought under irrigation and farmed in small holdings.

Bonanza has other important resources—vast pine forests; an empire of dry-farming and grazing lands; great springs of pure water.

Bowne Addition

is practically Bonanza. The original townsite consists of but a few blocks.

The Bonanza Improvement Company

Owms Bowne Addition, much of the original townsite and 2500 acres of farming land surrounding the town. To raise money for important improvements it is offering lots, for a short time at very low prices.

F. H. Thompson, the company's agent will visit Corvallis in a few days.

—Mrs. Kaupisch spent Saturday with Albany friends.

—The mid winter meeting of the O A C board of regents occurs tomorrow in the president's office at the college.

—Miss Florence Adams returned Saturday to resume teaching near Wells.

—M. P. Fruit, the ferryman, has been having an easy time the past few days. The high water prevented operation of the ferry from Friday to Monday.

—H. D. Eisman, better known among his college friends as "Schlitz" left college yesterday to return to his home at Grants Pass where he is to become part owner in the Eisman apple orchard through the generosity of his father. The orchard has been frequently referred to in the Times. It comprises 35 acres and the net profit from the crop was $8,000. It is not only famed on account of its ability as a dividend producer, but also for the reason that six years ago it was seized with a disease that threatened to destroy it. At one time Mr. Eisman was about to dig up the trees. The facts were brought to the attention of Prof. Cordley of OAC who applied remedies and the orchard is today one of the best properties in Oregon. His many friends in college and town regret the departure of "Schlitz" Eisman who is universally popular.

—Johnie Zumwalt and Charley Spencer spent Sunday night in Corvallis on their way down the river in a row boat. They came from Eugene and hunted ducks and geese on the trip down. Mr. Zumwalt was pilot on the steamer Albany when that boat raced with the Ruth between Corvallis and Portland. Mr. Spencer is a son of Captain Spencer who handled steamers on the upper Willamette river very many years ago. He is young, but has already become a very successful steamboat man. It is claimed that during the past year he has cleared a large amount from operating the Chas. R. Spencer a steamboat which makes the round trip daily between Portland and The Dalles. Mr. Zumwalt is the pilot of this boat. Although Messrs Zumwalt and Spencer claim that their journey down the Willamette was for pleasure alone, it is suspected that the trip may have been made with the view of placing an independent or opposition boat on the upper Willamette.

—Work on the Woman's Building at the college has been temporarily discontinued pending the payment of balances due the contractor by the board, also on account of the freezing weather during which cement work is impossible. In two days and a half of work the foundation will be entirely completed, and the laying of the joists be ready to begin. The progress so far has been very satisfactory to Mr. Snook. The foundation walls at some points, notably on the south, are 20 feet high. Work will be resumed about the 15th, weather permitting.

—The town of Independence starts on the new year without any lights. The lighting contract with the Willamette Valley company expired last summer and the council and company have been unable to agree upon a renewal contract. Lights have been supplied but the bills have not been honored, and now the company has turned off the lights, leaving the town in total darkness. The new council held its initial session last Monday and that body was expected to take steps by which the situation would shortly be relieved.

AUNT LOU LEWIS.

Was Buried To-Day—Although Blind, She Saw the Better Side of Life.

After an illness of several days from pneumonia, Miss Lou Lewis passed away at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fannie Davis, at Philomath, Monday night, Funeral services were held today at 10 o'clock at the Davis home, Rev. Reynolds of the United Brethren church conducting the ceremony. Interment occurred at Newton cemetery a large gathering of friends attending the burial. Among relatives present from other localities were Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis and daughter, Mrs. Kline of Salem. The former is a brother of deceased, and with whose family Miss Lewis resided many years. She was an inmate of Mr. Lewis' household, much of the time when the latter was a resident of Corvallis as well as since his removal to Salem.

Miss Lewis was 66 years of age. She was an Oregon pioneer, having arrived in this state 55 years ago and ever since making her home in the Willamette valley. She enjoyed a wide acquaintance, and, being a person of admirable disposition held a warm place in the hearts of those with whom she became in any way associated. At the age of twelve years she became totally blind from a slight accident, but this misfortune seemed not to interfere with an ambition to become a useful factor of society. Although the sunlight of her life could not enter through the "windows of the soul" it nevertheless in some manner found its way thither and was refracted upon her surroundings with unusual beneficence. She was offered the advantages of schools for the blind, and her accomplishments in which the sense of sight is deemed indispensable, was remarkable in the extreme. Her life was a valuable object lesson for those to whom misfortune has come, as well as to those in possession of all their faculties.

BACK TO OLD MISSOURI.

After Sixty one Years—To see Boyhood Home—Sol King.

Sol King is in Missouri. The supposition is that if a first class blizzard strikes him he won't stay long. He left Corvallis two weeks ago for a visit with his sister at Lone, and his son at Burns. The next heard of him was that after making out his visit with each, he had bought a ticket for Lexington, Missouri, and was headed for the state of his birth. It is his first visit to the scenes of his childhood for 61 years. He left there in 1845, and in the autumn of the same year landed in Oregon. He was then 15 years of age. His family pitched their tents in Kings Valley, and from there, that well known locality takes its name.

Mr. King has been East once since his arrival, but he did not then visit his old home. He went to New York at the instance of Colonel Hogg in the interest of the Oregon Pacific railroad, then projected for construction from Yaquina Bay across Oregon, which scheme has in part come to pass. Mr. King, who was formerly a heavy land holder, has sold everything, has retired from the concerns of life and will hereafter take it easy. The Eastern trip is a part of his programme. The period of his absence is indefinite.

Mr. King is one of the most excellent men that ever lived in old Benton and his friends are legion. He served four terms as sheriff of Benton in the late seventies and early eighties.

The OAC basket ball team is expected home tonight. They played the concluding game with the Washington State College at Pullman last night, and they are still undefeated. The score in the final game is, OAC, 30, Washington, 14. The game was strongly contested and was against one of the best teams in the Northwest and on their own court. In a game Friday night the Oregon boys beat the Spokane Athletic Club in a score of 60 to 30, the story of which is told below by the Spokesman Review.

The total number of games played on the tour is nine, and as seen above, the total points scored by the Oregon boys is 528 and against them, 198. Their achievement, performed on hotel fare, under the stress of travel, and always on strange courts, gives them a reputation never attained by a basket ball team in the Northwest. The story of the Spokane game is as follows:

"An even hundred points were scored in the basket ball game at the Spokane Amateur Athletic Club last night, the Oregon Agricultural College last five literally swamping the S. A. A. C. by the score of 70 to 30, in two 20-minute halves. The score is a record at the Club since the game was started.

"It was one of the fastest games ever played at the Club, but was characterized by loose passing and poor guarding, which were undoubtedly responsible for more than half the baskets thrown. The visitors lived up to the reputation they bear, that of the two year champions of the state of Oregon, in an impressive manner, thoroughly conclusive to the players of the S. A. A. C. and the spectators who saw the game. Their work both as a team and a squad of brilliant individual performers, stamps them as the swiftest basket ball team that has been seen in the club gymnasium in the past three years.

"Being the first game for the Club this season there was excuse for their loose work. The guards left the crack Oregon forwards, Swann and Reed, with open field time after time, notwithstanding the fact that these players were unerring as Kentucky rangers in their shots for the basket. Reed gave an exhibition of goal throwing that was almost phenomenal. This young man alone scored more than half the points, a feat by his team throwing no less than 18 goals from the field, 11 in the last half. It he missed any that he tried, it must have been when some of the players got in front of the scorer.

"Captain Swann was a lively little fellow, and his dashing passing made Reed's open chances more possible. Foster nearly six and a half feet tall got the ball away from the club centers every time."

Notice.

The law requires that anyone owning or harboring a dog within the Corporate Limits of the City of Corvallis, shall on or before the first day of January, of each year, pay into the city treasury the sum of one dollar for each male and two dollars for each female dog so owned.

If the tax is not paid by the time above stated the law makes it incumbent upon the Chief of Police to collect the same. The facts are now in my hands and if the tax is not paid at once I shall proceed to collect it according to law. W. G. Lane, Chief of Police.
