B. J. Hecker, of Albany, was in Corvallis Wednesday, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Arnold King.

R Turney, of the Gazette, is "laid up" from an affection of the left ankle. The trouble arose from an injury sustained the first of the year. The necessity of an operation has been threatened but at present the symptoms are more favorable.

—Mrs. J. H. Moore sent to this office this morning a fine sample of roses which are now blooming on her lawn. They are rich cream-colored roses, of the Marie Van Houtte variety, and are believed to be the first of the season.

—At an adjourned session of the county court the unexpended balance in Road District 2 was ordered spent on the cemetery hill road. Viewers in the Summit and Little Elk road matter were given until May 1, to make their report. In Road District 23 John Reese resigned and M. Holmes was appointed to fill the vacancy.

—If you see a man on the street with a hunted, hungry look, if the light in his eye is of that faraway kind that sometimes suddenly blazes up like Old Faithful, the geyser; if at that point in his anatomy about amidships where there ought to be a nice round bulge, there is a noticeable sink; if his general appearance is that of a man who wouldn't care a whoop whether it was a speeding locomotive or a fighting grizzly bear that he tackled if in short, as you look, you gather the impression that here is a man who doesn't care a tinker's d— if school keeps or not, that man is married, and his wife has the skating craze. He's dangerous—beware.

—Miss Vesta Wallace of Albany is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woodcock.

—Frank Ward, in his time one of the most popular students that ever attended OAC, now a Salem druggist, was in town last night to attend the K. P. banquet.

—Virgil Watters today bought the Bethers place of 262 acres owned by Thomas Cooper, paying for it $50 per acre. The place is to be divided into five-acre fruit farms and placed on the market at once.

—Rev. Frank Belknap, a Benton county boy, now pastor of the Methodist church at Hillsboro, left yesterday after a two days' visit at the old homestead in Belknap settlement.

—"The Approach of the Glorious Redeemer" is the morning subject, and "Jealousy, the Father of Vice and Crime" the evening topic at the First Methodist church Sunday.

—At a special meeting of the city council Monday night, D. A. Osburn tendered his resignation as night watch, to take effect May 13th, which is the date for the next regular meeting of the council.

—Preaching at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening by the pastor Rev. J. R. N. Bell. Morning topic, "Hope—Patience and Joy. Evening, "How to avoid Earthquakes." Sunday school at 10. Senior Endeavor, at 6:30. Prayer meeting and Bible study Thursday evening, 7:30. Everybody invited and made to feel at home.

—A subscription paper is in circulation on the street asking for contributions for the old soldiers monument to be erected in Crystal Lake cemetery by the Old Soldiers Monument Association. The plan of the organization has been explained in the TIMES in past issues. The association is trying to raise $1,000 for the purpose, having secured from contributions by the soldiers themselves about $300. The subscription paper is meeting with a generous response, as it ought to.

—Mohair 28 1-2.

—Wool, 20.

—Have you cleaned your premises today?

—Don't miss the lecture of Governor LaFollette next Tuesday evening.

—Subject at the church of God next Sunday evening—"I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day." A. W. Darby, elder.

—The worthy grand matron is to pay an official visit to the Eastern Star lodge next Tuesday and preparations are being made for an interesting evening.

—R. R. Selleck, the well known student, has been in Portland taking the civil service examination for a position in the patent office at Washington, D. C.

—Mrs. Horner and Mrs. Pratt went to Portland yesterday as delegates from the local Presbyterian church to attend the Northern Presbyterian Board, now in session at the metropolis.

—Rev. G. H. Gibbs, pastor, of the M. E. church South, will preach Sunday on the following subjects—11 a. m.—"The Light Bearing Christian." 7:30—"Christ and Abundance of Life."

—Services will be held in the Congregational church next Sunday, as follows: 10 a. m., Sunday school; 11 a. m., preaching by the pastor, Albert W. Monosmith, topic "The Key to Power." 6:30, C. E.; 7:30, subject, "The Price of a Man."

—Miss Stocker of Eastern Oregon, a student at the college who resides at the Tedrow home, corner Ninth & Jefferson, sustained a dislocation of the shoulder in a fall at the skating rink Wednesday. She is cut of college for a day or two, but expects to be able to resume her studies with the beginning of next week.

—Oscar Long of Corvallis is soon to graduate in medicine at a Knoxville, Tennessee, medical college. Some of his final examinations have all ready been passed, and in them he stood at the head of his class. There is a prospect that he will remain in Knoxville for a year as resident physician at the hospital. The medics of the institution have a baseball team and he is captain and first base.

—Ed Strange assumes charge of the steam laundry tomorrow. He is going to completely overhaul and remodel the establishment. A new washing machine is to be added, and electric irons for the hand ironing. A small dynamo may be added to the plant also. Monday, a brand new delivery wagon will be put on the route. Ed Strange is a man who always does things in the right way, and the laundry under his ownership will unquestionably turn out only first class work.

—The Womans building at the college is fast becoming a reality. The second story joists are nearly all laid, and in some places the brick work on the upper story is so far advanced that window frames are already in position. In a few weeks more the brick work will be completed. Plasterers are at work cementing the outside and plumbers are at work on the inside. Contractor Snook himself is taking a hand at the brick laying, due to the scarcity of brick masons. Twenty men in all are employed. At the present stage of affairs, it looks as if the structure would be all complete and ready for occupancy by the opening of college next September.

—Alta Additon, an OAC graduate of 10 or 11 years ago, is reputed to be the leading cyanide expert on the Pacific Coast. He is widely known in that capacity by syndicates and wealthy mining corporations, and is employed by them to investigate new properties and to give opinion as to whether or not it will pay to develop them. As a result of his judgment, costly machinery is purchased and the development undertaken. He usually purchases the machinery and superintends its installation, making tests of the first products of the mine, and then turns the business over to others, turning his attention thence to other new prospects. He is said to command a very large salary. He is installing machinery in a new mine in Northern California.

HIS SUDDEN DEATH.

Former Corvallis Man—Heart Disease the Cause—Expired on Streets of Portland.

Keeler H. Gabbert, a newspaper man of long experience, and who was for two or three years employed on the TIMES as reporter and compositor, is dead. He died suddenly on the streets of Portland Wednesday. The facts are told as follows in the Portland Journal of Wednesday:

Keeler Gabbert, a well-known newspaper man of Portland and vicinity, dropped dead of heart disease this morning about 11 o'clock at the corner of First & Washington streets. He was picked up by bystanders and was taken to Finley's undertaking establishment by the police.

Gabbert was well known in Portland and was about 50 years of age. At various times he has been employed by The Journal, Oregonian and the Telegram. He was also the editor of the St. Helen's Mist three or four years ago, but sold that property to E. H. Flagg, the present editor. For some time past he has been a newspaper correspondent at Oregon City.

Mr. Gabbert married Miss Stella Rowland of Roseburg, but was separated from his wife some time ago. Mrs. Gabbert is now living at Eugene. The deceased has two sisters in Portland, Mrs. Lulu Kramer and Miss Ethel Gabbert. A brother also resides in Salem. As yet no disposition has been made of the body, Coroner Finley having telegraphed to the brother to ascertain his wishes.
