In all, about 100 Corvallisites rendezvoused in the vicinity. Some of them picked berries, while others, Robert Johnson among them, saw that the lunch didn't spoil. About 35 gallons of fine blackberries were gathered in all. One young girl, Minerva Kiger, picked nearly five gallons in two hours.

The buggy was lifted high, and Mrs. Harlan thrown with her face against a stump. The forehead was laid open to the bone, and the face cut and bruised in many places. HORSES AND AUTOS.
Also men—Some Incidents and Some Accidents.

The advent of new autos has put Benton county horses on their mettle and their owners on the quiver. It has also put some owners on the ground. George D. man was one. He met Mark Rickard's new machine, and the horse paid no attention until after the danger was over. Then he got scared and ran with the rig which carried several ladies, into a ditch. Mr. Rickard chivalrously picked up the wreck and hauled it home.

When an auto approaches a vehicle from the rear, and the warning horn is blown, there is always activity on the upper works of the vehicle. The decks are cleared for action without delay. Two men in a buggy, under such circumstances, the other day, leaped out and both seized the horse by the bridle bits. They were the only really scared things in the neighborhood,—the wise horse neither moved a muscle nor batted an eye. He acted like he had been elbowing autos all his life. His drivers, however, didn't suspect him to be so wise and evidently expected, when the auto flashed before him, that he would flip a back somersault over the buggy or coon up a tree, buggy, drivers and all.

Samuel Whitesides, the well known farmer west of town, took time by the forelock. His son Clarence drives an auto. The old gentleman got his roadsters all together and tied them to a tree. By appointment, Clarence appeared with the machine and took it through all manner of evolutions in the presence of the prancing bunch circling around them, blowing the horn and performing generally. As a result of the treatment Mr. Whitesides, the elder, expects his equines to live the simple quiet life, no matter how many autos are on the horizon.

MARKED FOR DEATH.

Alleged Plot to Assassinate Monroe Merchants—A Warning Letter.

In a warning letter received through the mails by A. Wilhelm at Monroe yesterday, it is stated that members of the well known firm are marked for death, and that they are to be blown up with bombs in the same way that the death of ex Governor Steenberg was accomplished in Idaho in December 1905. The letter, which is signed "A Farmer," declares that six men have sworn to do the deed, and that the last of August is the limit to which the marked men are to be allowed to live. Adam Wilhelm Sr. and his sons Mat and Adam are mentioned as slated for death, and the assassin that picks off the first one receives a bonus of $500. Instant death is declared to be the portion of any one of the six who shall give information as to the plans. The letter says a bomb is to be placed at the gate of the Wilhelm home, just as was done at ex-Governor Steenberg's gate.

A fact that makes the letter assume graver interest is that some time ago a plan to burn the Wilhelm store narrowly failed of execution. Several places about the building were saturated with coal oil, and a match was applied. For some reason, the design failed, and now the letter pretends to throw light on the affair by saying that "the kid" that was to do the burning got frightened and put out the fire, after he had lighted it. The letter also insists that the gang of six claim they have grievances against the Wilhelms, and that the assassination is to be a means of revenge. The letter is written on a circular sent out in the late campaign by J. Scott Taylor, democratic candidate for state printer. An additional detail that heightens the seriousness of the letter is that such threats as it contains are known to have been made several times in the past. The firm is one of the best known in the county, and comprises citizens of high character. The letter is as follows:

THE LETTER.

A Wilhelm you are Marked to Be killed with a Bomb and I want to Give you a Chance for your life it is Planned to Plant a Bomb at your gate Mat and Adam are also Marked Be on your guard. 6 Men have Planned to do it when the fire was started to get you all out to the fire and then shoot all of you But the kid that started the fire got scared and Put the fire out. 6 men have sworn to pick you of and one of the 6 pretends to be your friend and gets favors off you they all say Wilhelms done them dirt and get even the man that shoots the first one of you gets five hundred dollars and the man that tells gits killed you are all to be killed By the last of August dont let on you No for if they no I posted you I'll be killed

COSTLY BRICK.

For the Woman's Building—Some Figures That Enter Into Construction.

Pressed brick is arriving for completion of the walls of the Woman's building at the College. It comes from Newberg and thereby hangs a tale. The clay for making it is taken from the banks of the Willamette near Buena Vista. The clay bed could not be reached on account of high water during boating season, and the material, after being digged from the bank, was hauled by team to the railroad at Parker station. The men who hauled it made $5.50 per day, which is a straw that shows something of the cost of the brick.

By train, the clay was carried to the brick works at Newberg, and then, by train it was carried to Corvallis. For all this handling there was a good wage, and the ultimate cost of the brick may be imagined.

There are 400,000 brick, pressed and common in the building. There are 500,000 lath. Sixteen hundred pounds of nails are required in putting on the lath. There is 70 odd thousand feet of floor space. Over seven tons of nails enter into construction of the building, and over 9,000 barrels of cement.

The work is going ahead as rapidly as the delay in securing materials will permit. A portion of the structure will probably be ready for occupancy by the opening of college September 27th.

LOST. Gold chain and locket marked "K." Finder please return to Times office.

FOR SALE. Furniture, carpets, wall paper, opposite Hotel Corvallis. A. H. KEMPLE.
