

Summer Art Camp instructors wanted

CANNON BEACH — The Cannon Beach Arts Association is seeking instructors to lead week-long workshops in a variety of artistic methods at its 13th annual Summer Art Camp during the week of July 13, at the Cannon Beach Community Church, located at 132 E. Washington St.

Class sessions will be from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday of that week. Past topics have included watercolor painting, drawing, writing, printmaking, bookmaking, jewelry design, encaustic painting and felting. Teachers are compensated based on classroom hours, and a stipend for supplies is provided. The CBAA is open to new topics and welcome your proposal.

Proposals should include a class description, the age group appropriate for the class, teaching experience/background if applicable, as well as all necessary contact information.

For more information or to submit a class proposal, contact the CBAA at 503-436-0744 or email to cannonbeacharts@gmail.com.

Since 1986, the Cannon Beach Arts Association has provided programs and opportunities that enhance and support the arts in Cannon Beach and the surrounding community. The CBAA is a nonprofit multidisciplinary arts organization run almost entirely by volunteers, allowing more than 97 percent of its budget to go directly to a wide variety of programs. These programs include: a children's summer art camp, scholarships for high school seniors, a $3,000 individual artist grant and the Cannon Beach Gallery. CBAA programs are all funded through member's contributions and grants from business, foundations and government agencies.

For more information, contact the Cannon Beach Arts Association at 503-436-0744, email cannonbeacharts@gmail.com, or visit www.cannonbeacharts.org

Discuss robust future of local farming

Food for the Local Soul to address agritourism, investment

NEHALEM — Would you like to learn about community investment? Are you looking for capital to start an agricultural- or food-related business? Are you a new farmer seeking access to land, or a landowner who hopes to lease or sell property to an aspiring farmer?

Are you interested in the economic potential of agritourism?

Join farmers, entrepreneurs and educators to discuss ways to build a robust future for farming in Clatsop and Tillamook Counties at Food For the Local Soul, an event to facilitate ideas to grow the local coastal farm economy.

The event takes place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 17 at White Clover Grange.

Enjoy a soul food lunch featuring fried chicken, collard greens, beans and cornbread (with as many local ingredients as possible). Lunch will be prepared by LaNicia Williams of Coastal Soul. For lunch, RSVP to Trav Williams at info@nvft.org or 330-822-2656, or contact Emily Vollmer at northcoastgrown@foodrootsnw.org or 503-815-2800.

Facilitators at Food for the Local Soul will include:

- Community investment: Jared Garner, beef farmer and access-to-capital consultant;
- Access to land: Trav Williams, chair of Nehalem Valley Farm Trust; and
- Agritourism: Ginger Edwards, farmer and entrepreneur.

There is a suggested donation $15, or whatever you can afford.
