

P&C Construction to lead Patriot Hall redo

Clatsop Community College has chosen Portland-based P&C Construction as the construction manager and general contractor for the Patriot Hall Redevelopment Project. Upon completion of contract negotiations, P&C Construction, along with the project architect SRG Partnership Inc., will move quickly into demolition and construction slated to begin this summer. The Patriot Hall Redevelopment Project is estimated to be complete by fall 2016.

P&C Construction, based in Portland, focuses on higher education, K-12, historic renovation, athletic facilities, health care, civic and community buildings. The company has extensive experience with projects along the Oregon Coast, including the construction of Columbia Hall and the renovation of Towler Hall on CCC main campus, the Health and Wellness Pavilion for Columbia Memorial Hospital, CMH Field for Astoria School District, the Astoria City Hall renovation and the Astoria Public Safety Facility improvements.

As general contractor for the CCC Jerome Campus Redevelopment Project, P&C Construction worked side-by-side with SRG Partnership to complete the project on time and under budget.

"P&C Construction is excited to be back on campus as the contractor for the Patriot Hall Redevelopment Project," said Steve Anderson, project leader for P&C Construction. "As a part-time resident of the coast, I truly understand the value that this project will bring to Astoria and the surrounding communities. Therefore, I will ensure that the P&C team provides every opportunity for local subcontractors, suppliers and tradespeople to work on this noteworthy addition to Clatsop Community College."

OBITUARIES

Sonja Lee Bjaranson Hammond

April 6, 1942 – January 28, 2015

After a courageous fight with cancer, Sonja Bjaranson, with family by her side, passed away peacefully in her home on Jan. 28. Sonja, who was an only child, was born to Florence and Stan Nitzberg in Oakland, Calif. Sonja graduated from Oakland High School in 1959.

Sonja had an incredibly fulfilling life, one surrounded by love at every turn.

Sonja had five children: four boys and one girl. She was preceded in death by her ever-loving husband, Bob Bjaranson (2004), and her devoted son Jason (2012). She is survived by her sons: Jeff Bjaranson (Hammond, Ore.), Adam Bjaranson and wife Lindsay (Beaverton, Ore.), and Ryan Bjaranson and wife, Suzanne (Hammond, Ore.). And her only daughter, Missy Thornton and husband, Ryker (Hammond, Ore.). Grandchildren Ashton Bjaranson (Seattle, Wash.), Natara Bjaranson (Rohnert Park, Calif.), Cade Bjaranson (Beaverton, Ore.), Kylie Bjaranson (Astoria, Ore.), Talon Bjaranson (St. Helens, Ore.), Holly Bjaranson (Hammond, Ore.) Ava Thornton and Ryker Thornton II (Hammond, Ore.). Special recognition to cousins Kim, Kenny, Cheyenne and Ryker King (Pleasanton, Calif.). And to Sonja's "honorary" daughter, Liz Miner (Everett, Wash.).

Sonja attended Diablo Valley College, and eventually married her childhood sweetheart and best friend, Bob. Because Bob was a longshoreman, they decided to settle in Astoria in 1978. Sonja was a homemaker, but prior to that, she enjoyed a career as a professional singer that took her to nearly every state in the country. Her love of dogs — particularly Old English Sheepdogs — was evident the moment they moved from Pleasanton, Calif., to Hammond, Ore.

Family members say Sonja was an overwhelmingly generous woman, and always put the needs of others before her own. To know her, was to love her. Sonja will be missed greatly and remembered fondly by her loving friends and family.

Hughes-Ransom Mortuary is in charge of funeral arrangements. In lieu of flowers, you can make a donation to Lower Columbia Hospice and/or one of Sonja's most beloved causes, Guide Dogs for the Blind.

The funeral service will be Sunday, Feb. 8 at 2 p.m. at the First Lutheran Church (725 33rd St., Astoria). A reception will immediately follow at the Warrenton Community Center (170 S.W. Third St). Attendees are encouraged to bring their "favorite dish."

Burial will be Monday, Feb. 9, at 11 a.m. at Ocean View Cemetery (off DeLaura Beach Road).
