

Once again, Seaside rolls out its famous red carpet to welcome visitors to Oregon's North Coast for one of our fastest growing events — Pouring At The Coast. Who knew that when you hear “It’s pouring at the coast,” you could count on it being beer?

Craft breweries are one of the fastest growing sectors in the state’s plethora of new small businesses, and that’s especially true up and down the Oregon Coast. We are proud of this explosion of art and enterprise, and we are thrilled to showcase our local brews and those of other craft breweries in the Pacific Northwest.

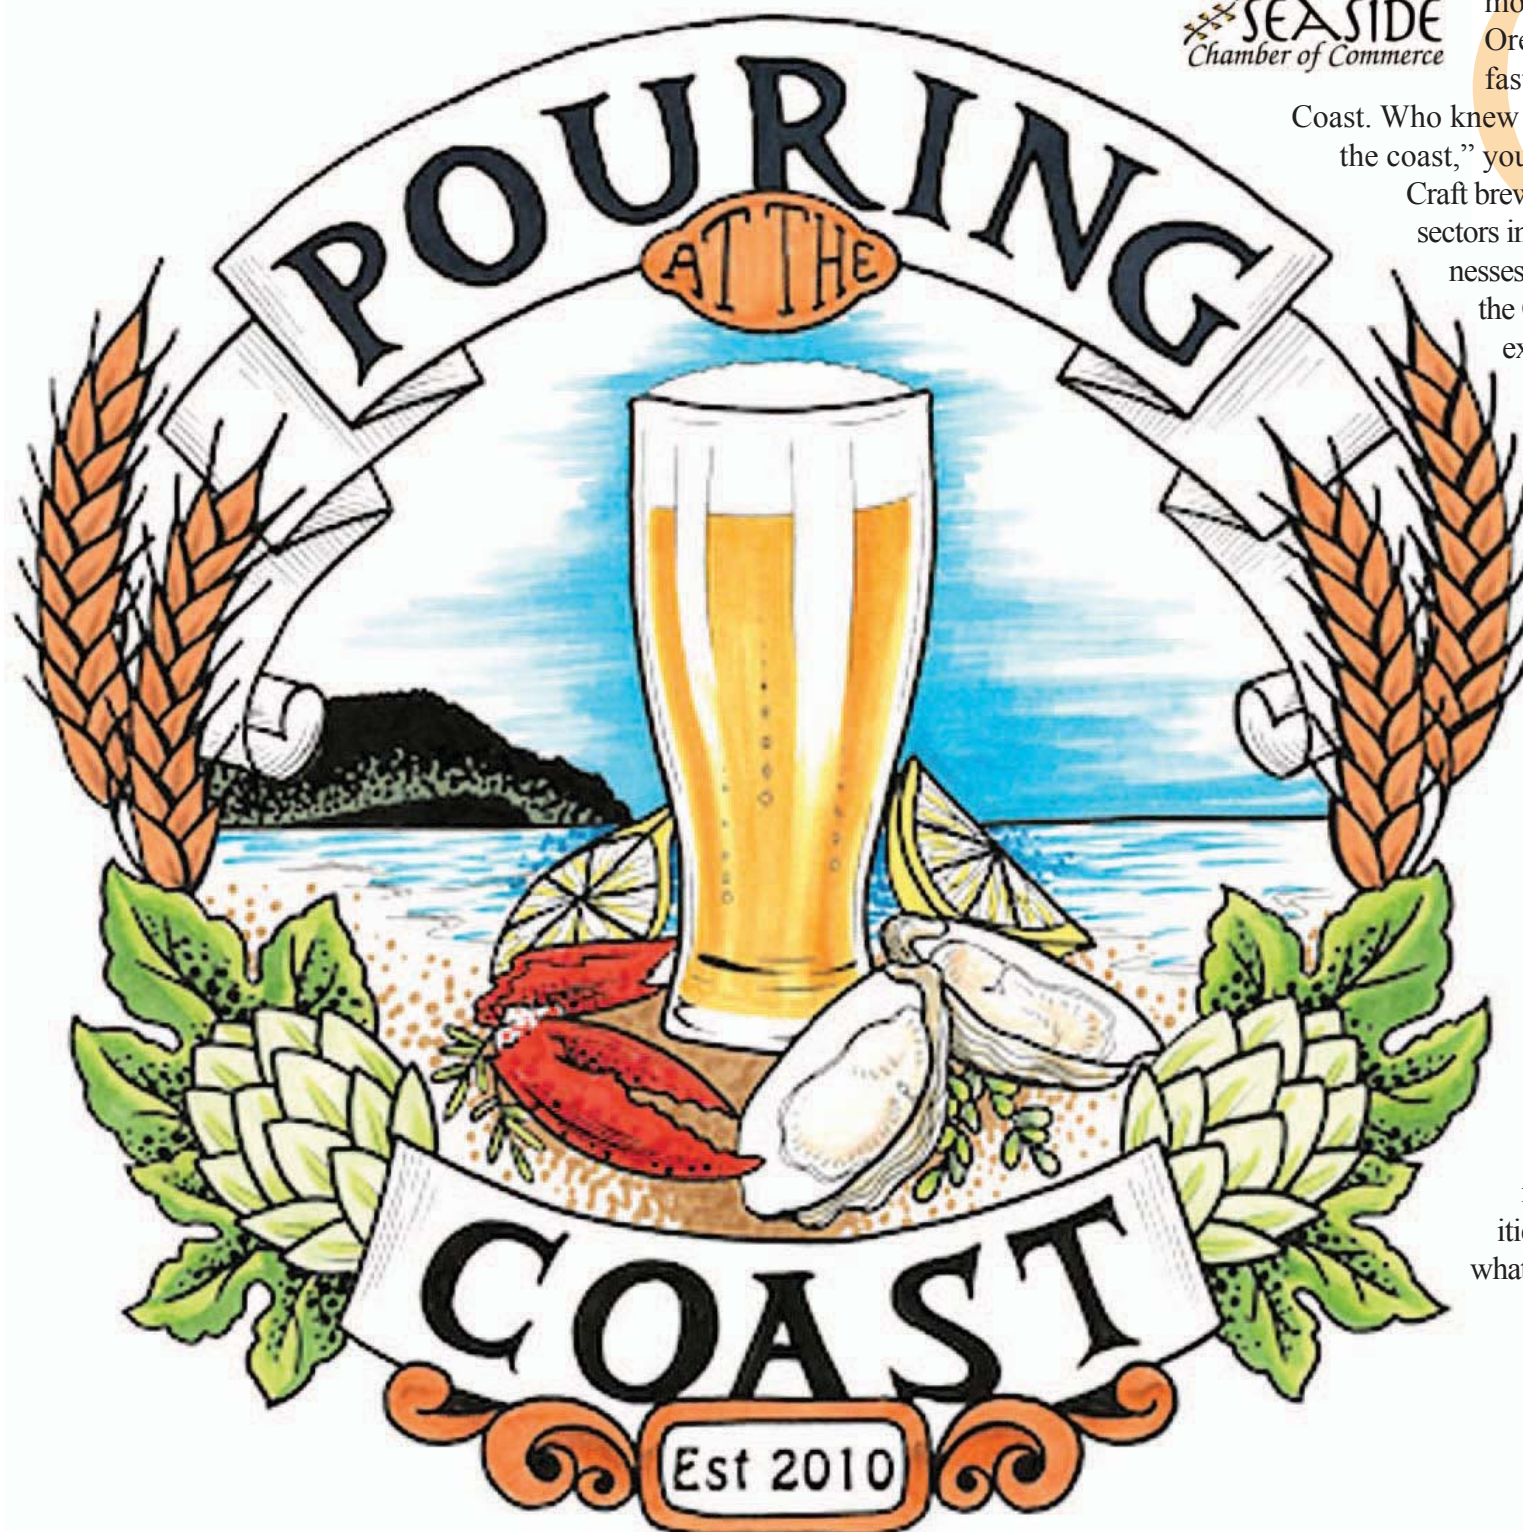

We are so excited to be working with Seaside Brewing; their excellent connections will result in nearly 40 breweries being in attendance for your tasting pleasure. We are also elevating the status of the homebrew contest with the intention of becoming Oregon’s premiere homebrew contest, beginning with a professional judging team from the Brew Crew, the best of the best.

It’s never the wrong time to visit Seaside, but this is certainly the RIGHT time to be here if you love beer. In addition, we offer our lovely community and convention center, our warm and welcoming people, outstanding restaurants, fun shopping and activities, as well as that gorgeous beach. It’s what we call the perfect coast weekend!

Thanks for visiting!
