

Ocean Shores issues call for art Submit one to six entries for April show

OCEAN SHORES, Wash. — The Associated Arts of Ocean Shores celebrates 41 years with the 2015 spring Fine Art, Photography and Electronic Media Show to take place April 24, 25 and 26 at the Ocean Shores Convention Center, located at 120 Chance a la Mer in .

The AAOS annual spring art show became a national show in 1980. Fine arts, photography and electronic media provide three simultaneous shows in one weekend.

Both the juried and open portion of the show allows artists to submit from one to six entries in the three categories with a chance to win cash prizes, ribbons and awards. This also includes a youth category in the open show.

In addition, more than 15 artists will show and sell their latest work.

Organized in 1971 and established in 1974, AAOS is dedicated to supporting the arts. Located on the northern peninsula of Grays Harbor, AAOS is a part of the North Beach community.

For more information, contact Ed Schroll, AAOS president at 253-576-1717 or email ewschroll@gmail.com.

Learn to manage your risks Science on Tap talks earthquakes, tsunamis

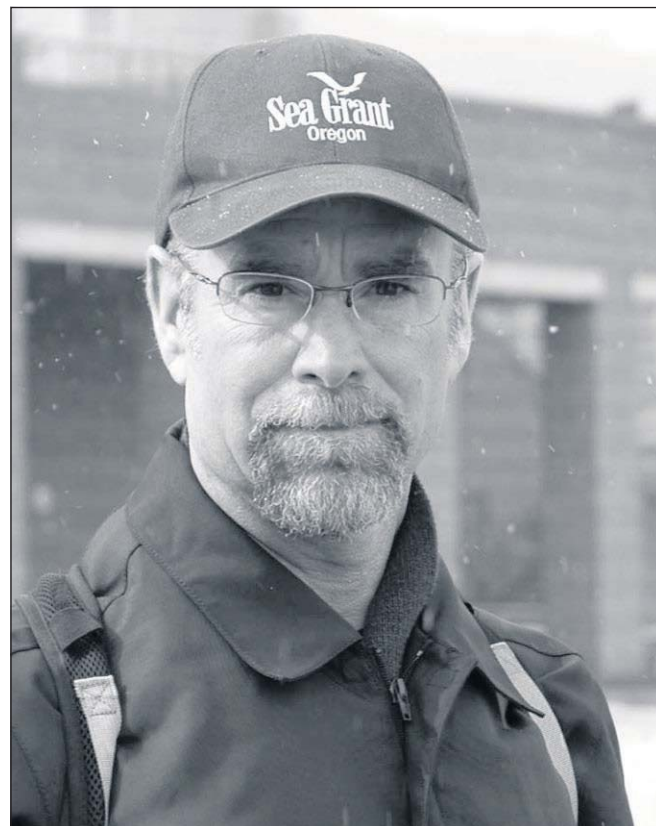

ASTORIA — The Columbia River Maritime Museum presents the next Science on Tap: “Managing the Risks of Living on the North Coast” at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 5.

Presenter Pat Corcoran will emphasize how people on the North Coast can grapple productively with the threat of a large earthquake and tsunamis. Considerable time will be spent addressing typical “tsunami scenarios” and fielding questions from the audience. Maps of county inundation zones will be available for participants to locate their “tsunami footprint,” identifying the vulnerability of their home, business, school, etc.

Corcoran is an associate professor in the College of Earth, Ocean, and Atmospheric Sciences at Oregon State University. He works locally to build community resilience to coastal hazards through the Clatsop County OSU Extension Service and Oregon Sea Grant. Corcoran’s areas of interest include chronic hazards like coastal erosion and shoreline change, and the Cascadia subduction zone.

Science on Tap, in partnership with the Fort George Brewery, is a Columbia River Maritime Museum program introducing maritime science, history, and technology in an informal setting. This program is free and open to the public; minors are allowed with adult. Doors open at 6 p.m., and the presentation takes place in the Fort George Lovell Showroom, located at 426 14th St. For more information call 503-325-2323.

Submitted photo

OSU associate professor Pat Corcoran will talk about tsunamis and earthquakes at the next Science on Tap on March 5.

ERIC WIEGARDT
AWS-DF, NWS

VISUAL PLEASURE FOR GENERATIONS

WIEGARDT STUDIO GALLERY • ERICWIEGARDT.COM
2607 BAY AVE, OCEAN PARK, WASHINGTON • 360.665.5976

MONTHLY SPECIALS • ORIGINAL WATERCOLORS & ACRYLICS
FINE ART PRINTS • PRODUCTS • FRAMING

Est. 1980

WILL LEATHER GOODS AND FUR FAMILY CO. ANDREW MARC Brighton Schott N.Y.C. Scully Since 1906 Remy

239 N. Hemlock • Cannon Beach • 503.436.0208

Audition for ‘The Orphans’ Tillamook theater puts on play in May

TILLAMOOK — The Tillamook Association for the Performing Arts will hold auditions for “The Orphans,” written by James Prideaux. “The Orphans” is a touching and delightful study of what happens when two eccentric (and immensely rich) spinster ladies, who have lived in isolation for 25 years, are suddenly confronted with an “outside world” they find difficult to comprehend, much less accept.

Auditions will take place promptly at 5:50 p.m. Saturday, March 7 and at 1 p.m. Sunday, March 8 at the Barn Community Playhouse, located at 1204 Ivy Ave. Audition packets are available by emailing info@tillamooktheater.com, or at the Tillamook County Library located at 1716 Third St.

Casting for principal and minor character roles include: two women playing sisters, ages 40-70; one male, age 20-40; one male for a minor role, age 30-70; one female for a very minor role, age 30-60; and one male for a very minor role, age 30-70.

Christian Chiola will direct. “The Orphans” opens May 22.

TAPA is a nonprofit community theater dedicated to providing high quality performing arts experiences through entertainment, education and community participation. For information, call 503-842-6305 or visit www.tillamooktheater.com

THE REAL STORY OF LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD

Opens March 6th

7th season
ASOC Winter Children's Theatre 2015

The real story of LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD

Performs Fridays at 7pm March 7th & 13th and Saturdays at 2pm March 7th, 8th, 14th, 15th

Tickets are $10 for adults and $6 for kids
On sale 1 hour before all shows!

RESERVATIONS RECOMMENDED

www.astorstreetyoungcompany.com
For more info call 503-325-3104

Sponsored by Columbia Memorial Hospital Pediatrics and HIPFISH

Sip, Savor & UnWined

An intimate Wine Tasting Event
featuring Crab, Seafood and Wine Festival
wine competition entries
Saturday, March 7, 2015
at the Liberty Theater in downtown Astoria

$25 ticket includes:

- 10 complimentary wine tastes
- commemorative tasting glass
- wine-paired appetizers
- access to 140+ wines from 40 Oregon wineries
- live music and more

Tickets available now online or at the Chamber office

Astoria Warrenton Area Chamber of Commerce • (503) 325-6311 • oldoregon.com

