Hampton Lumber teams up with Healthy Kids Inc.

WARRENTON — The Plant Advisory Committee at Hampton Lumber Mill in Warrenton was awarded a certificate of appreciation from Warrenton-Hammond Healthy Kids Inc. on April 19 for their generous donations over the last several years of turkeys for holiday baskets for area families in need. The PAC has also contributed coats, hats, warm blankets, gloves and essential clothing needs.

On that day, the committee presented Healthy Kids with a check for $337 from employees who have asked to have automatic payroll deductions, which will be ongoing. The money will be used to support the backpack program, which has provided more than 644 pounds of food and fresh produce for week-end backpacks this year. Last year, Healthy Kids gave out more than 1 ton of food, and served 88 families, or 264 students per week. Funds donated also support the Clothing Closets program, First Friday home football games tailgating barbecues, and free dinner Friday at the grade school.

Last year, Healthy Kids also sponsored the Lower Columbia All-Stars Baseball team to the regionals in Montana, and supports the free lunch program throughout the summer. Area businesses have highly supportive of these efforts, and have made it possible to make certain that children have the basic core needs at school, so all they have to think about while at school is learning.

For information on how to support this growing need, call 503-717-3796 or 503-791-5673 or send donations to WHHK Inc., P.O. Box 2473, Gearhart, OR 97138.

Knappa is the 'Wild West' when it comes to proms

KNAPPA — With the help and supervision of wood/metal shop teacher Tim Kamppi, art teacher Janet Hockman, and leadership teacher Tammy Goozee, students at Knappa High School were able to create a "Wild West" themed prom April 25.

The KHS Art Department created more than 24 large-scale murals, which were on display at the prom. Kamppi and his woodshop students built an entire Wild West town, which students and teachers helped to install in the cafeteria and gym. There was a covered wagon with a motor that acted as a ride to simulate old-time western travel, authentic tumbleweeds, live horses, games, prizes, food,

More than 20 prizes were raffled off at the end of the night, including a 40-inch flat screen TV, a digital camera, and a kayak. Students had to be present to win. In order to gain tickets for the raffle, students played games such as 21, arm wrestling, and line dancing throughout the night.

Unlike most proms, KHS includes the entire student body in the planning, set up, and the event itself. "We take great pride in the unusual kind of prom we have here at Knappa High," one student said. "It's like a grand art show, carnival, and prom all wrapped into one big shebang."

Grads inducted into college honor societies

The following local residents recently were initiated into the collegiate honor society for all academic disciplines, Phi Kappa Phi: Katherine Leino of Astoria and Emmi Collier of Warrenton. Both were initiated at Western Oregon University. Membership is by invitation and requires nomination and approval by a chapter.

Founded in 1897 at the University of Maine and headquartered in Baton Rouge, La., Phi Kappa Phi has chapters on more than 300 college and university campuses in North America and the Philippines. For information, go to www.phikappaphi.org

In March, Mackenzie Litwin, a senior from Astoria with a major in archaeology, was inducted into the Lycoming College (Williamsport, Pa.) chapter of Gamma Sigma Alpha, the National Greek Honor Society. Litwin is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau.

Students are eligible for membership based on their grade point average and active membership in a Greek fraternity or sorority recognized by their university. For information, go to <http://gammastigmaalpha.org>
