

OBITUARIES

Rosalie Ann Altena

Astoria

Aug. 17, 1950 — May 7, 2015

Rosalie Ann Altena was born on Aug. 17, 1950, to Wilmer and Kathleen Altena in Hull, Iowa. Rosalie was raised in Carmel, Iowa, and graduated from Sioux Center High School. She graduated from Central College in Pella, Iowa, and later earned her master's degree in interdisciplinary arts from Columbia College in Chicago, Ill.

Rosalie made many places her home, including Carmel, Sioux Center and Pella, Iowa, where her two sons, Aaron and Joe, were born and raised. From there, her pilgrimage took her to Chicago, Kansas City, Ghana, Jamaica, North Carolina, Maine, Ohio, Texas, New Mexico, California, Washington and her final resting place of Astoria, Ore.

Rosalie was an amazing artist. She loved painting and writing with her creative energy and spirit, and added her intricate touches of beauty wherever she saw a home for them. She brought warmth and light and color to all her surroundings and everyone in her life.

Rosalie was an adventurer, always prepared for anything, and loved camping, hiking, and exploring trips. She had a deep appreciation and connection to the natural world, and absolutely loved being by the water.

Rosalie was the proud mother of two sons and three grandsons. She loved any type of outdoor activity with her son, Joe, and extended trips to Aaron's home to connect with her grandsons. She loved her boys well with nurturing, wisdom and freedom to grow.

She especially enjoyed reunions with all her siblings and mother in California in recent years, as well as the occasional rendezvous with cousins, aunts and uncles and countless friends. Rosalie was a wonderful friend to many, and continued to find more people who loved her dearly at every turn in her journey.

Rosalie is survived by her mother, Kathleen Altena; oldest son, Aaron Lubach, his wife, Sarah, and their three sons; youngest son, Joe Lubach and his wife, Reyna; sister, Deb, her husband, Elson Schut, and their family; brother, Dan Altena and wife, Sandi, and their family; brother, David Altena; as well as family and friends throughout the world.

Margaret Hedrick

Portland

June 24, 1923 — May 11, 2015

Margaret (Maggie) Hedrick, daughter of William and Amanda Bird, was born in the small mill town of Mabel, Ore., and passed away in Portland this month.

She went to school in Monument and Milwaukie, Ore. She married Clinton Hedrick in 1945. The young couple resided in Portland until moving with their children to Eugene in 1961. The couple returned to Portland in 1991.

Margaret had ties of several years with Seaside. She came often with her family to the beach in the 1950s and 1960s to stay at the Hedrick family "cabin." Her husband was a master clam digger and Margaret excelled at fried clams and clam chowder; often friends came to stay in the extra rooms. In her later years, she often attended the Seaside bridge tournaments. She achieved Life Master status. She attended the September 2014 tournament, ate at Dooger's, and enjoyed her stay at the Tides. Coming to Seaside also gave her the opportunity to visit her daughter and son-in-law, Virginia (Gini) and Thomas Dideum.

Margaret was an outgoing, active person until her final weeks. She was active in business for many years. She worked at the telephone company and in insurance when young. After moving to Eugene, she helped her husband with his mobile home business, sold real estate, and became a travel agent. She had a passion for going places, with frequent trips to Hawaii and abroad. A highpoint for her was the trip she and her husband took around the world.

She was active at St Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Portland and Peace Presbyterian Church in Eugene. She coordinated fundraising and regional activities for the AFS foreign student exchange program in Eugene. She was a fan of North Eugene High School and University of Oregon sports teams, and a supporter of the Eugene Youth Symphony. She frequently played social and duplicate bridge in Portland.

Her husband predeceased her in 1992. She is survived by her four children (Virginia Dideum, Ken Hedrick, Nancy Hedrick and Barbara Scofield), two grandchildren (Amanda and Patrick Dideum), and three great-grandchildren, as well as two sons-in-law (Thomas Dideum and Chris Scofield), and her granddaughter-in-law (Kathy Dideum).

Her memorial service is on June 6 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, 3228 S.W. Sunset Blvd., at 11 a.m.

Remembrances can be given to the church's Cuba Mission (www.standrewspdx.com/cuba-mission) or Bay Area Cancer Connections (<http://bconnections.org>).

Her memorial is online at the Springer and Sons website, www.springerandson.com/category/on-line-obituary
