

POINT of view

'What is a favorite back to school memory?'

"Clothes shopping for the new school year. New clothes!"

Deborah McEuen, Astoria

"School was nothing I looked forward to going back to. I spent all my summers on my grandparents' farm, an would have preferred to stay there."

Brian Joy, Astoria

"Going to my grandparents' cabin, outside Klamath Falls, the last few weeks of summer."

Roberta Harper, Hammond

Column offers tours during restoration

The Daily Astorian

Limited tours are being planned at the Astoria Column, which is undergoing a $1 million restoration.

Guests willing to spend $50 can view the work next Wednesday and on Sept. 9.

The tours are limited to eight people each day.

The money from the tours will go toward the restoration by the nonprofit Friends of the Astoria Column.

The column has been closed over the summer. The restoration project is expected to be completed by the end of the month.

Guests can sign up for the tours at the column gift shop. More information is available from Sheri Mitchell, the column's executive director, at 503-791-8027.

OBITUARIES

Ted A. Baughman Astoria

May 17, 1946 — Aug. 16, 2015

Ted A. Baughman, 69, of Astoria, Ore., died suddenly on Aug. 16, 2015. A well-known and accomplished sport fisherman, Ted was packing up after landing a brilliant coho on the sands of Social Security Beach. He collapsed and could not be revived.

Ted was born on May 17, 1946, in Columbus, Ohio, to Lawrence and Beverly Baughman, and moved to the Astoria area in 1948.

Ted spent his formative years in Jeffers Gardens attending Lewis and Clark Consolidated before graduating from Astoria High School in 1964. After graduation, he enrolled at Clatsop Community College where he earned an associate degree in industrial mechanics in 1966.

Ted was soon drafted by the U.S. Army, where he excelled as a diesel mechanic and sharpshooter. Shortly after basic training in 1966, Ted married Mickey Reneke, who would remain his beloved wife for the next 49 years.

Following Ted's honorable discharge from the military, he became a millwright at the fledgling Wauna Mill in 1968, which was the start of an uninterrupted 40-year career that would carry him until his retirement in 2008.

Ted was a dedicated father to his two sons, Ted Jr. and Chris, who grew up to become a successful scientist and accomplished machinist, respectively. In addition to their own offspring, Ted and Mickey's home was a reliable sanctuary for numerous children over the years, many of whom grew to think of them as their second parents.

Ted loved sports, and participated in numerous volleyball, baseball and bowling leagues. In 1973, Ted bowled the first perfect 300 game recorded at Lower Columbia Bowl during league play.

His true passion, however, was for fishing. He steadily harvested steelhead, coho and Chinook from the bountiful waters of Clatsop County, only to share them with friends and family. Considered by many as the "mayor" of the Olney bridge on the Klaskanine River, Ted never hesitated to offer advice, encouragement or a helpful hand with the net.

Ted displayed an unending willingness to help out friends, family, and even the newest acquaintance, frequently deploying his considerable skill and energy without notice, and always staying until the work was done. He adored children, and "Papa Ted" always had time to wrestle, play catch, fish, ride bikes, play games or just tickle.

Ted is survived by his wife of 49 years, Mickey Baughman; son and daughter-in-law, Ted Baughman and Jennifer Treiberg (Redmond, Wash.); son and daughter-in-law, Chris and Michelle Baughman (Knappa, Ore.); grandchildren, Erika Baughman, Sawyer Baughman-Treiberg, KayLee Baughman and Cody Carsner; sibling, Nancy (Kevin) Miller; aunt, Janet Godwin; in-laws, Tom Reneke, Ginger Reneke, Terry and Rick Culver and Chuck Reneke; nieces and nephews, Judy Dawn, Tracy, Joe, Amanda, Jordan, Nikki, Brent, Haden and Jaxon; and cousins, Chuck Godwin and Tom Godwin.

Family and friends are invited to the Celebration of Ted's Life on Saturday, Sept. 26, at the Warrenton Community Center, starting at 1 p.m.
