Help clean beaches, rivers

SOLVE is holding a Beach & Riverside Cleanup, presented by the Oregon Lottery, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 19, to clean up Oregon's waterways and take care of parks, neighborhoods, and natural areas. Volunteers can choose from more than 100 projects across the state, including litter cleanups, invasive plant removals, and planting of native trees and shrubs.

Part of the International Coastal Cleanup and National Public Lands Day, the event is a family-friendly Oregon tradition, and combines SOLVE's annual coastwide beach cleanup with inland cleanup and restoration projects.

Last year, 5,140 volunteers removed over 80,000 pounds of litter and marine debris, cleared 6 acres of non-native, invasive plants, and planted hundreds of native trees and shrubs throughout Oregon.

This year, volunteers at litter cleanup sites will participate in a worldwide citizen-science effort by submitting data on the types of trash they collect. Top items collected by volunteers typically include cigarette filters, Styrofoam, plastic caps, fishing line, bottles and bags. Most plastics do not biodegrade, but instead break down into tiny pieces that can be harmful to fish, birds and marine mammals.

Volunteers at restoration sites will remove invasive species, such as English ivy and Himalayan blackberry, help native plants to thrive which reduces erosion, provides vital nutrients and shades our streams.

Local project details and online registration are at www.solveoregon.org, or by calling 503-844-9571, ext. 332. Preregistration is encouraged.
