The outage is scheduled to begin at 11 p.m. Monday and last until 6 a.m. Tuesday, although power will be restored at the first opportunity.

ria Regional Airport, south past Fort Clatsop and west to Hammond, Fort Stevens State Park and areas along Ridge Road.

For more information, call Pacific Power at 1-888-221-7070. Any outages during that time in other parts of the community should continue to be reported to Pacific Power at 1-877-508-5088.

Two injured in semitruck crash

The Daily Astorian

A semitruck hauling hardwood floors crossed the centerline of U.S. Highway 30 near Knappa Wednesday and struck two vehicles, injuring the two drivers.

Semitruck driver Jeremy Comer, 37, of Gladstone, was traveling westbound at about 1:40 p.m. when he crossed into the oncoming lane on the Ferris Creek Bridge at milepost 85.

He struck a 2015 Toyota Camry driven by Erin Duncan, 48, of Joshua Tree, Calif., and a 2015 Toyota Tacoma pickup driven by Timothy O'Connor, 67, Astoria.

Duncan was transported by Medics to Columbia Memorial Hospital. Her condition has not been released. O'Connor was transported to Legacy Emanuel Medical Center in Portland with five broken ribs and a fractured vertebrae, according to the Clatsop County Sheriff's Office.

The sheriff's office cited Comer for careless driving.

U.S. Highway 30 was closed for nearly an hour while crews cleared the scene. The sheriff's office was assisted by the Oregon Department of Transportation, Knappa Fire Department and Medix.

All three vehicles were substantially damaged in the crash.

Fundraiser set for mentoring program

The Daily Astorian

WARRENTON — Clatsop County's Lunch Buddy Mentoring Program wants people to "Take the Plunge" at a fundraising event at 1 p.m. Saturday at Coffenbury Lake in Fort Stevens State Park.

Participants will run into the lake and out again — like a "Polar Plunge," said Executive Director Mary Jackson.

There will be games for children, water and a healthy snack at this family event.

The Lunch Buddy Mentoring Program envisions that "all children have the opportunity to have a caring relationship with a supportive adult." The program pairs adult mentors with at-risk children or those struggling in school. They meet one day a week during the lunch hour. The program serves all elementary and middle schools in the county. In each school there are at least 10 to 20 students waiting for adult mentors.

"It takes about an hour a week, but the benefits are huge," said Jackson.

Cost of the fundraiser is $20 for adults and $10 for children. Parking is $5. For information or registration, call 503-440-0368 or email lunchbuddy.mp@gmail.com

'Race the Wave' helps preparedness

CANNON BEACH — Race the Wave, a 5K and 10K tsunami preparedness fun run and walk, is returning to Cannon Beach 10 a.m. Sunday.

The run begins along the beach, follows a scenic evacuation route through the city and ends out of the tsunami inundation zone. A post-race preparedness fair will feature grilled hot dogs, games and giveaways, a photo booth and more.

Registration includes a race T-shirt, timing, swag bag, and shuttle service between the race start, end and preparedness fair.

A 1-mile preparedness walk/roll along a fully paved evacuation route offers another chance to practice. The free walk/roll is suitable for interested those in walking a shorter distance, as well as people of limited mobility.

Evacuation maps are available at OregonTsunami.org as well as at local fire stations.

Being able to quickly move to high ground is critical. A tsunami caused by a Cascadia Subduction Zone earthquake will hit the Oregon coast in as little as 15 minutes. The earthquake will be the only warning that a tsunami is about to arrive.

Race the Wave is supported by the community of Cannon Beach, Cannon Beach Children's Center, Clatsop County Office of Emergency Management, Oregon Office of Emergency Management, Oregon Office on Disability & Health at Oregon Health & Science University, the Federal Emergency Management Agency Region X office, and DOGAMI.

The race begins at NeCus' Park, 268 Beaver St. Finish line and preparedness fair near the tsunami supply cache site on Elk Creek Road.

The $35 registration includes timing and a free T-shirt. The one-mile walk/roll and preparedness fair are open to all and don't require registration. For more information call 971-673-0628 with questions about the race, course route or terrain.
