

Astoria's hard-luck season continues

The Daily Astorian

It had the makings of a great comeback story ... but the Tillamook Cheesemakers didn't follow the script Monday night at the Brick House.

The No. 8-ranked Lady Mooks built a two-game lead on Astoria in a Cowapa League volleyball showdown, then held on in Game 4 to win the match, 25-21, 25-8, 23-25, 25-21.

Tillamook improves to 4-3 in league play, while the Lady Fishermen are still seeking their first league victory, with three matches remaining.

Astoria made a valiant effort, all things considered.

The Lady Fishermen were without two key starters (Jacqueline Jarrett and Madi Landwehr), both out with concussions.

Still, Astoria jumped out to an 11-3 lead in Game 1, thanks to some sharp serving from Aurora Grafton, three kills by Chloee Hunt, and a nicely placed shot from Halie Korff.

But Tillamook rallied and caught Astoria at 15-15, then broke a tie at 16 by outscoring the Lady Fish 9-5 to close out the game.

Tillamook led from start to finish in Game 3, but Astoria answered with a strong start (5-0) in Game 4.

With sophomores Chelsea Christensen and Darian Hagemen playing key roles, along with freshman Samantha Hemsley, Astoria managed to build a 17-13 lead.

The Cheesemakers forced ties at 22 and 23, but strong play at the net by Hunt was too much to overcome, as Astoria scored the final two points for their lone win.

The momentum carried over to Game 4 as the Lady Fish grabbed an 8-2 lead, highlighted by Hunt's kill off a set from Grafton and an ace serve by Christensen.

Tillamook rallied again and tied the game at 17-17, then used a power kill by Brianne Kephart and a service ace from Anna Oldenkamp to help build a 22-18 advantage.

An Astoria rally was quickly squashed by the Cheesemakers, as Jordan Zweifel scored a point off a touch kill, and Makayla

Hopkes capped the night with a kill following a long rally at match point.
