

The Barefoot Movement brings bluegrass

Hear this melodic band on stage at the Raymond Theatre

RAYMOND, Wash. — The Barefoot Movement will bring toe tapping to the Raymond Theatre stage with its melodic, lively bluegrass sound at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 25. Tickets are $15 at the door or $12 in advance at the theater located at 323 Third St.; Sagen's Pharmacy in Raymond, and South Bend Pharmacy. Campbell Kids, Sherry Aust, Heidi Bale and Bank of the Pacific are sponsors.

It has been five years since members of the Barefoot Movement took off their shoes and took to the stage. Hard work and talent have taken the band from east coast to west, from north to south and across the Atlantic Ocean. They have appeared in Country Weekly Magazine, on CMT Edge, Music City Roots and Woodsongs Old-Time Radio Hour.

Their original music was featured on the Outdoor

Channel's program "Huntin' the World: Southern Style" and the music video for their popular song "Second Time Around" has been seen nationally on the Zuus Country Network. The Barefoot Movement have been selected as a showcase artist at both the International Bluegrass Music Association and the Americana Festival conferences and the band was first runner-up at the 2013 Telluride Bluegrass Festival's

New Band Competition.

With two full-length albums, several cross-country tours and appearances at some of the top bluegrass festivals in the United States under their belt, this band's possibilities are endless.

The group has enjoyed almost non-stop touring, including a trip to Burkina Faso, Africa, where they were guests of the American Embassy. Debuting in September 2014, their third release "The High Road" EP showcases traditional material that has consistently been among the crowd favorites at their live performances.
