"I've always known that painting is a spiritual act and that what is coming out of me comes from deep inside and it's all so soul-filled. But to actually focus on the inspiration and put it into words revealed to me the extent of the internalized data that is held inside. The importance of history and global experiences and relationships, even on small simple little paintings like these. It's pretty mind-blowing!"

Inspiration Point

Inspiration is a powerful and guiding force in the creative process. Shaped by experiences both interior and global, practical and esoteric, it is fluid and changing in its influence on the artist. Join us for Inspiration Point, a group show revealing how inspiration is shaping the creative motivation of more than 30 DragonFire artists today. Represented media will include handcrafted jewelry, paintings in all media, sculpture, fused glass, photography, mixed media and wearable art.
