

Seaside FIRST SATURDAY

ART WALK

Nov. 7
5 to 7 p.m.

SEASIDE — The Seaside First Saturday Art Walk, celebrating 11 years in 2015, is all about the arts. Visitors walk about, meet artists, sip wine or snag appetizers, view artist demonstrations, listen to an artist talk or enjoy live performances in music. The next art walk is set from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 7 at galleries and shops in the historic Gilbert District of downtown Seaside.

T. Anjuli's Gallery

5 N. Holladay Drive

See work by artist Billy Lutz. His painting "Shearwater" focuses on the migrating bird, which spends extended periods over water. "They fly in units of graceful singular and collective movement," Lutz says of the birds. "Their relationship to air and sea is intrinsic, revealing the connectedness of all life to its environment in constant flux and in constant harmony. Plankton to fish to birds to clouds, the same form transformed slightly to allow their uniqueness, shows this participation in the life cycle of collective existence."

Seaside Coffee House

3 N. Holladay Drive

Seaside Coffee House often acts as a welcoming space where art enthusiasts gather, interact and collectively review the art walk experience. The coffee house features art by Morgan Stoller, whose pen and ink work is demonstrated through dramatic, subtle contrasts of light and shadows.

Beach Books

616 Broadway

Beach Books features Elina Zeberg from the Green Cab Artist Collective, a synergistic alliance of artists, working in diverse mediums from the greater Portland area. Zeberg is enchanted by the ancient art form of encaustic painting, which involves melting wax with torches, adding pigment and painting. She is currently exploring abstract images that have been creeping around in her mind for many years, finally finding a medium where she can fully express her visions.

aesthetic voice, will offer a narrative about their work. In attendance will be watercolor artist D. Joy McFadden, calligrapher Penelope Culbertson, wood sculptor Stuart Dittbrenner, atelier Lori-Wallace Lloyd and oil painter Cheryl King.

Seaside nature photographer Neal Maine will speak at 6 p.m. about what is happening in local wildlife habitats; in addition, his natural history journal of October and November images will be revealed. Proceeds will benefit North Coast Land Conservancy. Shirley Smith-Yates will perform live music throughout the evening.
