

BUD featuring SWEET RELIEF MEDICINE OF THE MONTH

Q How will cannabis affect me?

A. Cannabis affects everyone differently. Different strains and methods of consumption give users different effects. New users generally feel different effects than more experienced users. There are some people who don't feel anything at all the first time they try cannabis. Many people who use cannabis find the experience to be kind of relaxing and a little euphoric. For some, it makes them more outgoing and social. But others report that it makes them tired, anxious, or paranoid. If you're not sure how cannabis will affect you, it's best to start with a low dose. Be sure to ask your local bud-tender for recommendations on strains, products and doses to start with.

Banana OG Strain- Hybrid

Strain Highlights- Banana OG tends to be misunderstood at times because of the many crosses of OG causing it to lean either sativa or indica dominate. You'll find it smells tasty and tropical, sprinkled with a little tart spiciness. It has a pungent earthy aroma, but doesn't invade the whole room. There's no muskiness or "skunkiness". The taste is where the Banana OG really shines through. Smooth and sweet, sitting pleasantly in your mouth for a whole inhale. It's effects (keep in mind, these can vary from person to person) are a quick and notable pain relief, best described by muscle relaxation and light numbing. Simultaneously, the mind becomes activated and colors become more vibrant, expanding your energy and consciousness.

Strain- Hybrid

Strain Highlights- Welcome to the vortex, a mind-bending cross bred by Subcool from his favorite old and new headstash. The mother is the Apollo 13 and the father is a Space Queen. After testing many hybrids of these strains, the pungent sour sweet Vortex hybrid was selected. When used lightly, this strain is a real pick-up for the senses, stoking creative juices and provoking thought. Vortex has also gained a following from those who use marijuana medicinally for chronic pain because it assuages physical pain but also calms many of the emotions that accompany the experience of chronic pain.

Neville's Haze Strain- Sativa

Strain Highlights- A pungent, resinous strain with an earthy, diesel-y smell, Neville's Haze is strong sativa with an intense cerebral high. Many users report that this strain makes them feel clear-headed, giggly, creative, and energetic. Others claim it leaves them aroused and feeling at peace with the world. Neville's Haze also helps with depression, stress and pain. However it affects you, this 1998 High Times Cannabis Cup winner is not for novice smokers.

Chem Valley Kush

Strain- Sativa-dominant hybrid

Strain Highlights- CVK kicks in quickly, but advances slowly. It hits smoothly and has a nice woody, earthy flavor with just a hint of pine. A great strain for pain, some patients report feeling a sense of disassociation with their body, while it also can cause tingly sensations for others. Overall, CVK will leave you relaxed, uplifted, euphoric, and energetic with little to no couch-lock.

Dutch Treat Strain- Indica

Strain Highlights- Over the years, Dutch Treat has become an essential strain of the Amsterdam coffee shops. The dense, sticky buds have an intense smell of sweet fruits mixed with pine and eucalyptus trees. The cerebral high comes on quick and leaves consumers feeling uplifted and euphoric while reducing stress and relaxing the mind.

Blue Dream

Strain- Hybrid/Sativa Dominant

Strain Highlights- Blue Dream, a sativa-dominant hybrid originating in California, has achieved legendary status among West Coast strains. It balances full-body relaxation with gentle cerebral invigoration. Some Blue Dream phenotypes express a more Indica-like look and feel, but the sativa-leaning variety remains most prevalent. Blue Dream is a popular daytime medicine for patients treating pain, depression, nausea, and other ailments requiring a high THC strain.
