The Gumshoe Mystery

My brother Timmy and I discovered a broken lawn gnome in our yard.

Obviously, it was your pet monkey. That's the culprit! He's always monkeying around!

No way! Mondo was with me all day!

Just then, Timmy noticed an important clue—a shoeprint in a blob of gum. He thought the tread looked like our dad's sneakers!

Timmy used this observation to keep investigating. Little brothers can be so stubborn!

Chewy Clues

Timmy and Mondo interviewed mom and dad. They left clues in the gumballs below for Cecil. Write down every other letter to discover who broke the gnome.

Walter Diemer developed bubble gum in 1928. It was pink because that was the only food color he had available. His product was called Dubble Bubble and it became a top seller.

FUN WITH STEM: GUM INVESTIGATION

STUFF YOU'LL NEED:

1. Measure the length of gum before you start chewing it.
2. Blow a bubble and measure the diameter. Can you figure out the circumference?
3. Stre-e-tch the gum and stick it on the wax paper. Make it as long as you can, then measure it.
4. Chew a piece of gum for 2 minutes. Then chew a new piece of gum for 10 minutes. Was it easier to blow bubbles after a longer time? Write your observations here:

What's in bubble gum?

Originally gum was a kind of tree sap called chicle extracted from tapping trees the same way latex is comes from rubber trees. The natural ingredients have now been replaced by man-made plastics and rubber to which color, sweetener and flavors are added. 60 to 70% of most bubble gum is sugar.

Biggest Bubble

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the biggest bubble gum bubble ever blown measured

$$13 + 4 + 3 =$$

inches across.

Stretch a Sentence

Start with a simple sentence like: Bobby blew a bubble. Then, look through the newspaper for words you could add to that sentence to make it longer. For example: Bobby, a bright and brawny boy, vigorously blew a beautiful, pink, shining bubble. Try stretching these sentences: Tobias stepped on gum. Alison walked the dog.

Standards Link: Grammar: Write simple and compound, complex sentences; use adverbs and adjectives.

Well, I've solved another mystery!

Oh, brother!

Chews or Choose?

Chews and choose are homonyms—words that sound the same but are spelled differently and have different meanings. Find five words in the newspaper that are homonyms. Write the matching word that is pronounced the same but means something different, next to each word.

Standards Link: Vocabulary: Identify and use homonyms.

What kind of fish likes bubble gum?

ANSWER: A blowfish.
