Enjoy an evening of nature discourse with Nature Matters

Nature Matters offers an evening of conversation about observation, citizen science and phenology, the study of cyclic and seasonal change, when Nancy Fernandez presents "Timing is Everything! Plants' Response to Climate Change and How You Can Help" at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Fort George Brewery's Lovell Building showroom. The doors open at 6 p.m., and the event is free and open to the public.

Fernandez, a climate change intern with Lewis and Clark National Historical Park and San Juan Island National Historical Park, talks about the national program Project Budburst, which serves to connect citizen scientists with opportunities to help monitor changes in plants and animals in their communities. A 2015 graduate of the NPS Academy, delves into the history of plant phenology as seen through the eyes of Lewis and Clark, and gives practical information about how to get involved with Project Budburst locally and regionally.

Nature Matters, a lively conversation about the intersection of nature and culture, takes place on the third Thursday of each month from October through May, and is hosted by Lewis and Clark National Historical Park in partnership with the North Coast Watershed Association, the Lewis and Clark National Park Association, and Fort George.
