

Kids can develop, sell a product at Astoria Sunday Market

Market's Biz Kidz program hosts boot camp for young entrepreneurs March 12

ASTORIA — The Astoria Sunday Market Biz Kidz program offers young entrepreneurs an opportunity to become vendors at Astoria Sunday Market. This year, the series of free workshops for kids grade K-12 is condensed to a one-day “boot camp” designed to prepare them to sell their own products at the market.

The boot camp is free thanks to a donation by Recology Western Oregon.

“Recology of Western Oregon has supported this program since its first year in 2009,” says Cyndi Mudge, Astoria Sunday Market Director.

The Young Entrepreneur's Boot Camp will take place from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, March 12 at the 4-H Club House, located across from the Clatsop County Fairgrounds on Walluski Loop. Any child age 5 to 18 in Clatsop County is eligible to participate. The boot camp includes lunch.

Registrations are required and can be found at www.AstoriaSundayMarket.com or by contacting the market at 503-325-1010 or at AstoriaSundayMarket@charter.net

County 4-H leaders guide young entrepreneurs through the process with a series of topics that include developing a product, salesmanship, designing a display and planning a budget. The day is full of hands-on activities designed to be fun and informative.

“They also will meet other Biz Kidz as well as market vendors to learn first-hand how to become a vendor,” says Mudge.

Participants must create or grow something to sell at the market, and they are encouraged to “think green” by using recycled material to make their products or to consider horticulture or farming products.

The 2016 Schedule for Young Entrepreneurs is:

- Boot Camp: 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, March 12, 4-H Club House.

- Annual Vendor Luncheon: 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Sunday, April 17, Astoria Event Center: open to kids who have signed up to become a Biz Kidz vendor.

- Visit the Market: Sunday, May 8 to June 12: Biz Kidz are encouraged to attend Astoria Sunday Market for ideas about product and display; those who are signed up as vendors receive a $5 gift certificate to

Watch ‘Sometimes a Great Notion’ film

The Big O Saloon screens Pacific Northwest cult classic Feb. 25

OLNEY — The best place to watch the greatest movie ever made about logging is in a real logger bar. The best logger bar around is the Olney Saloon, set back up in the woods of Olney.

On Thursday, Feb. 25, the Olney Saloon will host its annual winter screening of “Sometimes a Great Notion.” The movie, adapted from Ken Kesey’s epic novel about a defiant family of loggers, starred Paul Newman and was filmed on the Central Oregon Coast during the summer of 1970. The film was released in 1971 to an indifferent nationwide audience but remains a cult classic in the Pacific Northwest.

The Big O will offer a Hank Stamper Olympia beer and meatloaf sandwich special, free popcorn, and the warmth of a crackling woodstove fire to enjoy the film. Astoria writer Matt Love, author of “Sometimes a Great Movie: Paul Newman, Ken Kesey and the Filming of the Great Oregon Novel,” will introduce the movie, hold a trivia contest, and take questions after the screening.

The saloon is also offering a raffle where the winning ticket wins a “Sometimes a Great Notion” collectable package, including a copy of the movie, special hardback edition of Love’s book, a promotional still from the movie, and an ancient can of Olympia purportedly held by Paul Newman on the set. All proceeds from the raffle will go to support a local literary cause.

Last year, the saloon filled to capacity well before the screening, and late arrivals were turned away. This year, to accommodate the crowds, the movie will also be screened outdoors near the fire pit (weather permitting).

The event is free and begins at 6:30 p.m. The Olney Saloon is located 9.5 miles up Oregon Highway 202.
