IN EARLY CANCER DETECTION

THE OHSU KNIGHT CANCER
INSTITUTE HAS ALREADY STOPPED CANCER IN ITS TRACKS ONCE. NOW WE
INTEND TO STOP IT BEFORE IT MAKES ANY TRACKS.

It's simple. When you find cancer earlier, more people live. That's why we're proud to welcome Sadik Esener, Ph.D., to the Knight Cancer Institute at Oregon Health & Science University. He'll head our revolutionary effort to radically improve early cancer detection. Dr. Esener is an internationally acclaimed scientist with the unique ability to solve the toughest problems. To do what can't be done, by thinking differently. At OHSU, he joins a world-class team, led by Brian Druker, M.D., that's bringing new light to the fight against cancer.

Join us. Help us carry the torch and together we will light the way to the end of cancer.
