Strain- Tahoe OG

Strain Highlights- Tahoe OG is the perfect rainy day strain. Strong and fast-acting, you may not want to use this strain when you're planning to leave the house. Great for those suffering from insomnia, pain, or lack of appetite, Tahoe OG has made a name for itself among other indicas. A top nighttime strain, it provides an extremely lazy, heavy body sensation. Due to superb breeding, Tahoe OG embodies all of the typical indica effects with an added euphoric, sativa-like kick. This strain features an earthy, lemon taste, and is a phenotype of OG Kush. Tahoe OG is a must-try for those looking for a great night's sleep, and quiet the mind from all the chaos of the day we all find ourselves from time to time.

Mango

Strain- Indica

Strain Highlights- For most users, this strain kicks in immediately, producing both strong body and mind effects. Many also find that this strain makes them more open and talkative. Occasionally, it can cause 'the giggles,' especially with higher doses. It is a classic 'munchies' strain, and many patients use it to calm nausea and induce appetite. This strain may also cause drowsiness, usually starting halfway through the duration of the high. It is a strain that can work wonders on chronic aches and pains, especially joint pain.
