Kinder Ready Workshops planned for parents and preschoolers this spring

CLATSOP COUNTY — Parents, caregivers and their 3-to-5-year-old children are invited to free, interactive Kinder Ready Workshops planned around Clatsop County this spring.

At Kinder Ready Workshops, adults and their preschool children explore a tote bag full of educational materials with the guidance of a teacher/facilitator who shows them many creative ways to use the materials to teach their children pre-academic skills they will need to be successful in today’s modern full-day kindergarten.

Incorporating learning through play and hands-on activities will teach skills such as:

- Learning letters, sounds and rhyming skills with games and books;
- Building math skills with matching, counting, sorting and addition games;
- Building social, physical and communication skills to instill confidence to enter kindergarten.

At the end of the workshop or series of workshops, families take home their tote bag full of materials to continue playing and learning at home.

This spring, two Saturday workshops are planned: May 14 at the Seaside Public Library, located at 1131 Broadway in Seaside, and June 4 the Astoria Public Library, located at 450 10th St. in Astoria. Both work-
