OBITUARIES

Charles Horsley

Astoria
Dec. 7, 1951 — May 24, 2016

Chuck Horsley, 64, passed away May 24, 2016, surrounded by his family. Chuck will live on at his favorite place, the ocean.

Chuck was born in Chicago on Dec. 7, 1951. He grew up in Santa Cruz, California, where he started working at the age of 15. When he wasn't working or going to school, he loved playing sports including baseball, surfing and volleyball. He also managed to be crowned homecoming king ... twice; he was a busy guy!

When Chuck left Santa Cruz, he couldn't leave the ocean behind, but preferred to share the beach with less people, so he moved to the sleepy town of Astoria. Chuck lived the rest of his life in Astoria, where he raised two daughters and touched countless lives with his giving, loving and community-minded nature.

Although Chuck was a self-proclaimed "surfer," he had an unrivaled work ethic. Chuck was known for his ability to work as hard as he could to make sure the job was done well, and his family was provided for. Chuck was a man of his word, and made good on every promise he could. Chuck was also a stubborn man, and a force to be reckoned with. Luckily, once Chuck considered you family, you forever had him on your team.

Some of Chuck's favorite things to do included spending time with his family, his Thursday night get-togethers with friends, going to his favorite beach and riding his bike at Fort Stevens. He loved Astoria so much, and referred to it as his "God's Country."

Chuck is survived by his daughters, Caitlin and Nicole Horsley, as well as the love of his life, Stephanie Kefauver.

Chuck's family is planning a celebration of life on Saturday, June 18, at the Astoria Masonic Center, at 1572 Franklin Ave. Doors will open at 11:30 a.m., and the program will begin at 12 p.m. Light refreshments will be provided.
