

A portrait by Zemula Fleming at Forsythea.

"Three Horses" by Carol Smith at Tempo Gallery.

"Creation" encaustic on wood panel by Karen Story at River-Sea Gallery.

A quilted fabric hanging by Alexandra Myers at Tempo Gallery.

"Okeanos," a black bamboo, fused glass and waxed linen thread sculpture by Charissa Brock at RiverSea Gallery.

A painting by Ilwaco artist Don Nisbett, who will be at Old creations in Tencil by Barbara Hall; painted silks by Kavita; and handmade flora-dyed silk scarves by local artist Brianna Lichnovsky.

SUPPORTING PARTICIPANTS

13. In the Boudoir

1004 Commercial St.
Envelop your senses with fine linens, lotions, soaps and home decor.

14. Sea Gypsy Gifts

1001 Commercial St.
In honor of Astoria Pride, Sea Gypsy Gifts will show off its whimsical side. With mermaid costumes, handmade crystal wire wrap crowns, new funky jewelry, scarves, purses and more. See new artwork. All costumes and jewelry on sale.

A collage by Mary Gaffney at Luminari Arts.

A bowl by Richard Kuensting at Luminari Arts.

"Makah Wetlands" by Thron Riggs at Tempo Gallery.

15. Cargo
240 11th St.

Patty is back from India, and she brought handmade blouses, dresses and more clothing for summer.

16. Maiden Astoria
255 14th St.

Maiden Astoria will showcase photography by Nhakira LaPointe, a young, vibrant, self-taught photographer living in Astoria. Her images represents how she sees the world.

SUBMITTED PHOTOS

Donate used books to Cannon Beach Library

CANNON BEACH — The Cannon Beach Library is now accepting book donations for its Gigantic Fourth of July Used Book Sale.

If you have books stored in the basement, garage, under the bed or in the attic and don't know what to do with them, the library can help. All donations are tax deductible and all money raised goes to the support of the library.

For more information, call 503-436-1391.

SUBMITTED PHOTO

Policeman's helmet is easy to pull up by the roots.

Help attack a notorious weed at Circle Creek

SEASIDE — Impatiens glandulifera — an invasive plant better known as policeman's helmet — is becoming a scourge in the Necanicum River watershed. Help arrest this public enemy at Circle Creek Habitat Reserve at a volunteer stewardship day with North Coast Land Conservancy from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, June 11.

Native to Asia, policeman's helmet is named for the plant's white, pink or purple flowers, whose shape resembles an old-fashioned British policeman's helmet. It was first sighted in the Necanicum River watershed about three years ago and has since spread widely. It thrives in moist riparian areas such as the floodplain at Circle Creek, where volunteers will be working.

Dense patches of policeman's helmet choke out other plant species and reduce native plant and animal diversity while increasing the risk of stream bank erosion. When touched, the plant's mature seedpods split and eject seeds up to 20 feet. A single plant can produce up to 800 seeds, which remain viable for 18 months or more and can even germinate under water.

NCLC has timed this stewardship day — a partnership with Necanicum Watershed Council — to pull up plants before they have a chance to set seeds.

If you'd like to help, contact NCLC Stewardship Director Melissa Reich at 503-738-9126, melissar@nclctrust.org, for directions. Visit NCLCtrust.org for more information and a fact sheet about this weed.

Continued from Pg. 8

some are built with the painstaking application of hundreds of tiny beads while others are a smooth, soft surface of paint. Byzantine art influences her presentations of women in both antique and modern circumstances. Fleming explores the portrait of a woman on a fluid timeline. Meet the artist during art walk.

12. Adagio

1174 Commercial St.

On display are antique African masks and Japanese woodblock prints from the Shin-Hanga and Sosaku-Hanga periods. The collection of "wearable art" includes vintage Japanese silk haori,