McIntosh elected Circuit Court judge

Attorney won over 50 percent in primary

By KYLE SPURR
The Daily Astorian

Dawn McIntosh will become the newest Clatsop County Circuit Court judge in January.

The Secretary of State's Office certified the May primary election results last week, and notified McIntosh that she won with 50.2 percent of the vote. The slight majority is enough to avoid a runoff election this fall against challenger David Goldthorpe.

Goldthorpe, a deputy district attorney, withdrew his plans to challenge the outcome of the election. Requesting a recount would have cost more than $3,000, he said.

Goldthorpe finished with 29 percent of the vote. Municipal Court Judge Ronald Woltjer had 21 percent.

Overall, McIntosh collected 5,146 votes, Goldthorpe had 2,970 votes, and Woltjer had 2,106 votes.

McIntosh, an attorney and former prosecutor, will replace Judge Philip Nelson, the county's longest-serving elected official, who is retiring this year after 24 years on the bench.

She joins Circuit Court

Judges Paula Brownhill and Cindee Matyas.

"I'm excited at the opportunity," McIntosh said. "I'm looking forward to it."

McIntosh is leaving her law firm in Gearhart and returning to her previous law firm, Campbell and Popkin, in Seaside. She plans to keep working throughout the year.

Before campaigning for the open judgeship, McIntosh worked as a courtroom lawyer for nearly 24 years.

In her career, she worked as an attorney and partner at Campbell and Popkin, a Clatsop County chief deputy district attorney and an intern-deputy in Multnomah County District Attorney's violent crimes unit.

Nursing assistant's certificate revoked for neglecting care

The Daily Astorian

The Oregon State Board of Nursing revoked the nursing assistant certificate of Jesse Misner, of Astoria, in April for allegedly neglecting the care of several patients and failing to cooperate with the board during the investigation.

In August 2015, Misner

reportedly failed to provide basic hygiene to a patient for several hours. Twice in January, he apparently neglected the care of a patient for several hours. Again in February, he was found to have neglected a patient for several hours.

Misner was reported to the board in February, when the investigation was opened.

During the investigation, the board sent two letters to Misner asking to schedule an interview to discuss the allegations and have him send a written statement. The board claims Misner failed to schedule an interview and did not provide any documents.

Misner was issued his certified nursing assistant certificate in June 2015.
