Tourism, arts winners in Cannon Beach

By LYRA FONTAINE
The Daily Astorian

Cannon Beach Tourism and Arts Fund will disburse about $266,000 this year to area nonprofits.

The commission suggested $5,000 to North Coast Land Conservancy, fulfilling their request for a new event, Coast-Walk Oregon, a three-day, 30-mile hiking event on the Oregon Coast Trail starting at Columbia River and heading over Tillamook Head to Cannon Beach.

The Chamber of Commerce requested $110,000; the commission recommended $35,000.

"I think the general feeling was, with the city increasing its annual contribution through the additional 1 percent that was passed this year, that a lot of the items were a part of doing business as the destination marketing organization for the city," City Manager Brant Kucera said. "There was a feeling that the city had already set aside money to do those activities."

The Chamber of Commerce requested $50,000 for an inaugural culinary, beverage and music festival and night market; $25,000 for marketing on the North Coast; $20,000 to expand the website and social media; and $15,000 for marketing videos.

The commission recommended $35,000 in total fund awards: $6,700 for the festival and night market, $11,000 for North Coast marketing, $8,700 for social integration and $8,700 for videos.

"Several people felt that some of the events would fall under the normal course of business for the chamber and not require Tourism and Arts Commission funding," Commission Chair Tom Drumheller.

"I am pleased to hear how the commission responded to the chamber coming in and asking for $110,000 when they've been granted a significant increase in their budget this year," Councilor Melissa Cadwallader said.
