

Brown confirms five debates with Pierce

Pierce has pressed for more debates

By PARIS ACHEN
Capital Bureau

Gov. Kate Brown has announced details for five debates she plans to participate in this fall.

Her campaign has said the sitting governor who is seeking election for the first time would agree to at least three debates. As former secretary of state, Brown succeeded Gov. John Kitzhaber when he resigned in February 2015 amid an influence-peddling scandal.

The five scheduled debates with GOP nominee Bud Pierce will be held in Bend, Portland, Eugene and Medford.

"I'm proud of all that we've gotten done in just a year and a half. And, there is much more work to do — for families, for our environment and for better government," Brown said in a statement Thursday. "I'm looking forward to traveling across our state and sharing my vision for how we will move Oregon forward, together."

Pierce said Thursday he's glad to see Brown has increased the number of debates she'll accept.

He noted that Brown declined to join in the traditional first debate of general election season sponsored by the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association in July.

"I'm glad the governor now feels ready to be in front of the people," Pierce said in a statement Thursday. "Throughout the entire campaign, I've told voters that I will attend any debate at any time and have accepted every single debate invitation I've received, since I believe debates are very important."

In addition to the debates with Brown, Pierce has accepted three other debate invitations and "is anxiously awaiting the governor's decision" on those debates, according to Pierce's campaign. Those include a debate sponsored by KDRV in Medford on Oct. 16.

Pierce also accepted an invitation for a debate by the Pamplin Media Group/EO Media Group/Skanner News Group/KOIN 6 News/University of Oregon Agora Journalism Center and another debate by KATU, both of which had dates to be determined, said Stacey Kafka, Pierce's communications director.

Liz Accola Meunier, a spokeswoman for Brown's campaign, said Brown has declined the debate by Pamplin Media Group/EO Media Group/Skanner News Group/KOIN 6 News/University of Oregon Agora Journalism Center and is still considering the other two.

"We've received a lot of great proposals and the governor is eager to talk about a variety of issues that matter to Oregonians," Meunier said. "Unfortunately, due to scheduling constraints, decisions on this fall's debate schedule so far have been made primarily on logistical grounds."

The five confirmed debates between Brown and Pierce are:

- Sept. 24, Bend. Sponsored by: Society of Professional Journalists, The East Oregonian, Jefferson Public Radio and KTVZ-TV.
- Sept. 30, Portland. Sponsored by: Portland City Club
- Oct. 6, Eugene. Sponsored by: League of Women Voters and Oregon Public Broadcasting.
- Oct. 13, Medford. Sponsored by: KOB-TV and KOTI-TV.
- Oct. 20, Portland. Sponsored by: KGW-TV and The Oregonian.

Brown's campaign says proposals for additional debates, forums or appearances will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

OBITUARIES

Mary Ann Wood

Seaside
Feb. 4, 1929 — Aug. 20, 2016

Mary Ann Wood passed away in Seaside, surrounded by family, on Aug. 20, 2016.

She was born Feb. 4, 1929, in Prosser, Washington, to Ford and Leona Quarles. She grew up in Cathlamet, Washington, working in her father's grocery store, and was a licensed beautician and business owner.

She married Allen Wood in 1949, and together they raised their children in Japan and Iran for many years.

She volunteered in the hospital gift shop, and with the Lady Elks and the Seaside Ambassadors.

Mary Ann is survived by her children, Linda Ford (Ron), Jeff Wood (Kim) and Susan Billings (Bob); four grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren. Her parents, brother Dick, and husband Allen all preceded her in death.

Her hobbies included loving to cook and entertain, decorating cakes, traveling and reading.

Special thanks to her wonderful caregivers, Zan and Trisha.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations to Hospice, Seaside Kids or the Alzheimer's Association.

A memorial is being held at 2 p.m. today at the Seaside Elks Lodge, 324 Avenue A in Seaside.

Hughes-Ransom Mortuary & Crematory in Seaside is in charge of the arrangements. Visit www.hughes-ransom.com to share memories and sign the guest book.

Washington lifts mark-selective rule for two days in Buoy 10 fishery

The Daily Astorian

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife has lifted its mark-selective rule on Chinook two days sooner than expected during the Buoy 10 fishery.

On Sept. 4 and Sept. 5, Chinook retention includes any fish, hatchery or wild, on the main stem Columbia River from Buoy 10 upstream to the Tongue Point/Rocky Point line.

Because the Chinook catch has been lower than anticipated in the Buoy 10 fishery, removing the mark-selective regulations for Chinook those two days provides an additional harvest opportunity.

The salmon/steelhead daily limit is as follows: Chinook minimum size, 24-inches; coho minimum size, 16-inches. The daily limit is two, of which only one may be a Chinook, and only one hatchery steelhead may be retained.

Ocean salmon season closure

The Daily Astorian

Recreational salmon fishing ended at 11:59 p.m. Saturday in the ocean from Cape Falcon to Leadbetter Point, Washington, under an in-season rule change approved by NOAA Fisheries after consulting with Oregon and Washington fishery managers.

The rule applies only in the ocean, not the Columbia River, and does not impact the Buoy 10 fishing season.
