

OBITUARIES

Tracey Aquin Schrott
Warrenton
May 26, 1959 — Sept. 19, 2016

Our beloved "Mam" passed away at her home in Warrenton on Sept. 19, 2016 with her daughter and sister by her side.

She was born on May 26, 1959 in Roslyn, New York, to Frank J. Schrott and Mary T. Schrott, née Bromell. The family later moved to Huntington, New York, where she was raised.

She preceded in death by her father, mother and sister Victoria. She is survived by her daughter, Brook Brim, her son-in-law, Stacey Brim, her sister, Nadine Kelly, and brother-in-law P.T. Kelly, and most importantly her grandson, Drew Arroyo.

Tracey was known for her smile, her charm and particularly her wit and wisdom. In a family full of funny people, she was the funniest. She loved cooking, sewing, knitting, chocolate milk, and above all, her family. She lived her life putting others first. She loved performing random acts of kindness and paying it forward. She taught her grandson how to play chess and loved playing with him until he started winning. She loved animals of all kinds and would feed every one of them including the river rat that would visit her trailer. She named him Scout. Her love of horses was clear to anyone who knew her.

Tracey Aquin Schrott

She raised her daughter in Santa Cruz, California, as a single mom and earned an associate degree from Cabrillo Community College and then attended San Jose State University for two years. She and her daughter and grandson moved to Warrenton, Oregon, in 2002 to be near family. She cared for her father for three years while he suffered from Alzheimer's disease. People loved her postings about "Life with father."

Her light shone so bright even at the end. The void created by her absence is immeasurable. She must have been needed elsewhere.

In lieu of flowers Tracey would want you to donate to your local animal shelter. A private memorial will be held by family members. Peace.

Ferne M. Berg
Hammond
Sept. 12, 1918 — Sept. 3, 2016

Longtime Hammond, Oregon, resident, Ferne M. Berg passed peacefully a few days prior to her 98th birthday on Sept. 3, 2016 at her daughter's home in Newberg, Oregon.

Mrs. Berg was born Sept. 12, 1918, in Whitney, Nebraska, in a three-room house. She was the second of six children born to Lewis Guy and Delia Aleta (Mobley) Mershon. She attended school in Crawford, Nebraska, in a one-room schoolhouse, completing grades one through 12.

Mrs. Berg was a career businesswoman. She began working as a legal secretary, then as a court reporter, then for the Flour, Feed and Cereal Employees Association, where she negotiated labor agreements. During that employment she met Kenneth S. Berg, office manager of Pillsbury Mills in Astoria. They married Feb. 5, 1949, in Astoria. Kenneth later became part owner and manager of Pacific Shrimp Inc. of Warrenton.

After her marriage, she and Kenneth lived in Hammond. Mrs. Berg was employed by the Warrenton U.S. Bank, (where she was the first woman teller at that branch), then as secretary at Warrenton Grade School. In 1963, Ferne was hired as secretary to Eben Carruthers at E.H. Carruthers Co. in Warrenton. Upon the retirement of Mr. Carruthers, she was promoted to president of the company, and served in that capacity until her retirement in 1968.

Ferne and Kenneth had three daughters: Kathleen, who died prematurely, Andrea and Maridel. Kenneth passed away March 4, 1995.

Mrs. Berg was an avid reader. She enjoyed grammar and words. Because of her knowledge of language, she accepted the task of proof-reading for The Herald Magazine, and also for authors who wrote articles for her religious organization. This she did joyfully after her retirement, and on into her 90s, until her eyesight became limited.

Her hobbies included gardening, refinishing and restoring antique furniture, needlepoint and knitting, crossword puzzles, walking and beach-combing and Bible studies.

In 2008, Mrs. Berg donated a lot that she owned in Hammond to the Warrenton Community Garden. With Sharon Anderson at the garden helm, the garden was opened for use in 2009, and continues today.

Mrs. Berg was preceded in death by two brothers, Guy Jr. and Dean Mershon; two sisters, Juanita McKnight and Patricia Allison; her husband Kenneth; her daughter Kathleen; and her son-in-law Richard Garcia.

She is survived by her sister, Judith (Mershon) Smith and husband Larry of Fresno, California; two daughters, Andrea Garcia of Hammond, Oregon, and Maridel Hick and son-in-law Robert Hick of Newberg, Oregon; her grandchildren, Kenneth Hick of England, Katherine Hick of Corvallis, Oregon, Jessica (Garcia) and Christopher Sheppard of Hammond, Oregon, Aleta (Garcia) and Nathan Clute of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Richelle (Garcia) and Adam Bobek of Beaverton, Oregon; her great grandchildren, Brian and Madalyn Sheppard and Andrew and Sydney Clute; and many nieces and nephews.

A graveside service will be held Oct. 1, 2016, at Ocean View Cemetery in Warrenton at 1 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions can be made to the Warrenton/Hammond Food Bank at CCA Regional Food Bank, 2010 S.E. Chokeberry Ave., Warrenton, OR 97146 or the Warrenton/Hammond Public Library Building Fund, in care of the City of Warrenton, P.O. Box 250, Warrenton, OR 97146 (on the memo line of check, write in memory of Ferne Berg).

Marine toxin threatens razor clam season

The Daily Astorian

LONG BEACH, Wash. — Bad news keeps getting worse when it comes to a quick end to the marine toxin bloom that has indefinitely delayed start of razor clam season on the southwest Washington coast.

Test results released Friday by the Oregon Department of Agriculture found the toxin domoic acid widespread in shellfish on the Oregon Coast. The state has closed the entire Oregon Coast to shellfish harvesting.

This means the algal bloom responsible for producing the toxin is widespread and not a localized outbreak that might swiftly dissipate.

The recreational harvest of bay clams and crab remains open on the Oregon Coast.

According to the state, commercial shellfish products remain safe for consumers because samples show no biotoxins.
