Get new 'State of Mind' at art show and auction

6-by-6 Art Show and Auction set for Nov. 5 in Ilwaco

ILWACO, Wash. — The Columbia Pacific Heritage Museum will hold its seventh annual 6-by-6 Art Show and Auction on Saturday, Nov. 5, and organizers of the event are in a state — or, actually, they're in all 50.

This year's event, with the theme "State of Mind," has gathered more than 60 art objects — all of them 6-by-6 inches — from some of the region's most talented artists.

The artworks will be available to view in the museum's special exhibition gallery now through Nov. 5. The works can also be seen on the museum's website at columbiapacificheritagemuseum.org.

The silent and live auctions will take place from 5 to 8 p.m. Nov. 5 at the museum, which is located at 115 S.E. Lake St. Presiding auctioneer, Bruce Peterson, is both entertaining and knowledgeable about the artists and their works.

This event is the largest fundraiser for the exhibition programs of the Columbia Pacific Heritage Museum. It's an opportunity to get to know the local art scene, enjoy some delicious refreshments, take home your very own masterpiece and, most importantly, show your support for the Columbia Pacific Heritage Museum.

Tickets for the auction event are available at the museum for $10 each. Fifty raffle tickets are being made available for $20 each. The winner of the raffle will have the pick of any 6-by-6 art piece prior to the auction event.

Call the museum at 360-642-3446 or visit the website for more information about the auction, raffle and exhibition.

Local actors to produce, perform 'The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (abridged) [Revised]'

Fast-paced farce takes audience on 1.5-hour journey of the Bard's oeuvre

CANNON BEACH — Come experience the magic and genius of William Shakespeare as you never have before when a trio of local thespians attempt to perform "The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged) [Revised]" at the Coaster Theatre Playhouse.

Take part in a Freudian analysis of Ophelia in "Hamlet," watch Titus Andronicus host a cooking show and cheer for your favorite historical monarch in a revised version of this comedic play, written by Adam Long, Daniel Singer and Jess Winfield, that parodies all the Bard's works.

The actors who will perform this feat are Seaside residents Emily Estrada, Ellen Jensen and Katherine Lacaze. They also are producing, directing and designing the production.

The play will be performed at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5 and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 6. It also will be shown the following weekend at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 12. All performances are free and open to the public. Each performance contains some adult humor, but you are guaranteed a laugh or your money back.

Estrada, Jensen and Lacaze bring to the stage about 45 years (collectively) of experience in every facet of theater.

Estrada, 25, started performing at a young age. In 2013, she graduated from the University of Oregon, where she studied theater production with an emphasis in dramaturgy. Her performing arts experience was developed and impacted greatly by studying modern British theater in London. After moving to the North Coast, she stage managed for "Twelfth Night" and "Murder On the Nile" at the Coast Theatre.

Jensen, a 25-year-old Portland native, has been running onto stages and making a spectacle of herself since she was 3 years old. She has continued to do so on the stage of the Coaster Theatre since 2010, where she first appeared as a silly girl in "Annie Get Your Gun." She's gone on to play many other silly girls in 14 other productions including Sally in "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," Rapunzel in "Into the Woods," Jaqueline De Severac in "Murder on The Nile" and, most recently, the scatter-brained Marsha Gilmore in the Coaster's production of "Let's Murder Marsha."

As an elementary-aged child, Lacaze, 25, started writing and acting in plays for her first captive audience: her long-suffering family. Throughout middle and high school, she attended Missoula Children's Theatre's summer camp for several years and participated in community and school productions. In her hometown of Kingman, Arizona, she directed six plays, including "The Music Man," "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" and "The Importance of Being Earnest." Since moving to the area in 2014, she has performed in four plays and stage managed for one at the Coaster Theatre.

"The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (abridged) [Revised]" is produced by special arrangement with Broadway Play Publishing.

The Coaster Theatre is located 108 N. Hemlock Street in Cannon Beach. For more information, contact Lacaze at 503-741-5668 or like "The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (abridged) [Revised]" event on Facebook.

Trivia and museum scavenger hunt strike again

CANNON BEACH — Back by popular demand is the Cannon Beach History Center & Museum's trivia contest event. This family-friendly event is a great way to bond or to compete for the highest prize.

The one-day event takes place from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5.

Each competitor purchases a single trivia card for $2.

Each card contains 10 questions that must be answered while in the museum. No cell phone or internet searches are allowed. All of the questions are contained within the museum's exhibits and displays.

"The event is a combination of scavenger hunt and trivia contest," explains Museum Director Elaine Murdy-Trucke. "The answer to every single question are contained within the museum's exhibits. Even the bonus questions."

Those who answer all 10 questions correctly will win a prize. You can only win once, but you will win — the staff and volunteers will make sure of that. While they cannot give you answers, they can guide you in the right direction if you're having trouble.

The museum will offer brain food in the form of Sleepy Monk coffee and a few light snacks. Writing materials and writing stations are provided throughout the museum.
