

North Coast Chorale presents concerts

ASTORIA — The North Coast Chorale will present its winter concerts at 7 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10 and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11. The concerts will take place at the Clatsop Community College Performing Arts Center, located at 588 16th St. Tickets are $10 and available at the door.

Under the direction of Denise Reed, this season the chorale is featuring Benjamin Britten's "A Ceremony of Carols" with local harpist Cheryl Walker and other well-loved traditional holiday music.

Britten's "A Ceremony of Carols" was composed while he was traveling on a Swedish cargo vessel. On his way to England after a vacation in America, Britten stopped in Nova Scotia and obtained a copy of "The English Galaxy of Shorter Poems." He used five poems to fashion "Ceremony of Carols."

Although crossing the Atlantic amid the presence of several German U-boats, he managed to complete this composition during the voyage. It features harp accompaniment and was published in 1955.

This year, as an additional treat, the North Coast Chorale's concerts will feature guest appearances. At the Saturday performance, enjoy music from the Seaside High School Jazz Choir directed by Vanessa Rush. At the Sunday performance, hear selections performed by the Ilwaco High School Concert Choir directed by Rachel Lake.
