

Learn about the War of 1812 at In Their Footsteps

ASTORIA — When thinking about the Lewis and Clark Expedition, the War of 1812 does not usually come to mind. But the two historical happenings are connected.

At the next In Their Footsteps free speaker series event, Lorna Hainesworth's research on "The Corps and the War of 1812" will be shared. Hainesworth is unable to attend in person, but she has shared her research paper and PowerPoint presentation with Lewis and Clark National Historical Park staff.

The event will take place at 1 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18 in the Netul River Room of Fort Clatsop's visitor center. The event is free and open to the public.

During the Corps of Discovery's 1804-06 expedition, the U.S. Army was small since the country was in peacetime, but soon the War of 1812 with England began. Were some of the soldiers of the Corps of Discovery still in the Army? How did the war impact the civilians associated with the expedition?

The forum is sponsored by the Lewis & Clark National Park Association and the park. For more information, call 503-861-2471.

How do you run a gallery?

CANNON BEACH — Cannon Beach Arts Association will host the last event in its Artists Talk series at 6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 15 at the Creative Coast Project Space, Suite 25 in Sandpiper Square. This panel discussion will feature three gallery owners, who will illustrate different gallery business models and varying levels of artist representation.

Panel members include Jeffrey Hull, owner of the

Jeffrey Hull Gallery; Martha Lee, leader of Russo Lee Gallery; and Joyce Lincoln, owner of Northwest by Northwest Gallery. Each panelist will provide a look into running a gallery and how artist representation varies in metro areas, like Portland, versus resort areas, like Cannon Beach.

Shelley Loring, left, and Jennifer Goodenberger will present a winter holiday concert on Monday, Dec. 19.

Hear a winter concert

ASTORIA — Long-term friends flutist Shelley Loring and pianist Jennifer Goodenberger will present the performance "Concert for a Winter's Night: Music for Chanukkah, Solstice and Christmas" at 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 19 at Grace Episcopal Church, located at 1545 Franklin Ave.

The concert will include Jewish, Celtic and holiday music, Christmas carols, and original compositions to celebrate the season.

At a young age, Loring performed concerts of Jewish music with her father, a Jewish cantor. She has toured the Western States with the Community Concerts Association in addition to playing with many regional and local music organizations. Most recently she returned to performing her life-time passion — jazz and improvisation.

Goodenberger is a solo pianist, performing her original compositions, classical music and arrangements of folk and Celtic music. Her recordings are often used in the healing arts and as film soundtracks. She recently released her eighth solo piano CD.

There is a $10 suggested donation at the door. For more information, call 503-325-5310.
