

OBITUARIES

Scott Edward Taylor Sr.
Seaside
Dec. 13, 1957 — Jan. 17, 2017

Scott Edward Taylor Sr., age 59, of Seaside, Oregon, passed away Tuesday, Jan. 17, 2017, in his home, after a long battle with cancer, surrounded with all his loved ones at the time of his passing. After 14 months of battling cancer, his son, Scott Jr., was by his side supporting him through to the very end with love and care.

He was a loving man, loving father and grandfather, and his family was the most important thing to him; we were always first. He enjoyed spending time on the coast with his family, making memories and passing those memories on to the grandchildren, and then reliving those memories with them.

Scott Sr. was born in Portland, Oregon, but grew up with a love for the Chicago Bears and Chicago, where he lived until the age of 12 with his parents and siblings before returning to Oregon. He tremendously enjoyed driving truck and traveling.

It was in the 1980s when he met, fell in love with and married Lorna Goheen, and the two of them moved to the Oregon Coast and made their life together raising their children.

Scott Sr. leaves behind a third generation; his son, Scott Edward Taylor Jr.; grandson

Scott Edward Taylor III; daughters Katelyn Taylor, Stacy Dailey and Susie Hibbs; daughter-in-law Shalynnda Taylor; son-in-law Brett Hibbs; grandchildren Wyatt Hibbs, Lillian Taylor and Izzabella Taylor; brothers Rick Taylor, Mark Taylor Sr., Paul Taylor and Bill Taylor; and sister Yvette Taylor.

He was preceded in death by a sister, Reni Taylor; granddaughter Megan; and his parents, Luther William Taylor “DUB,” and Katherine Louise Taylor Townsend.

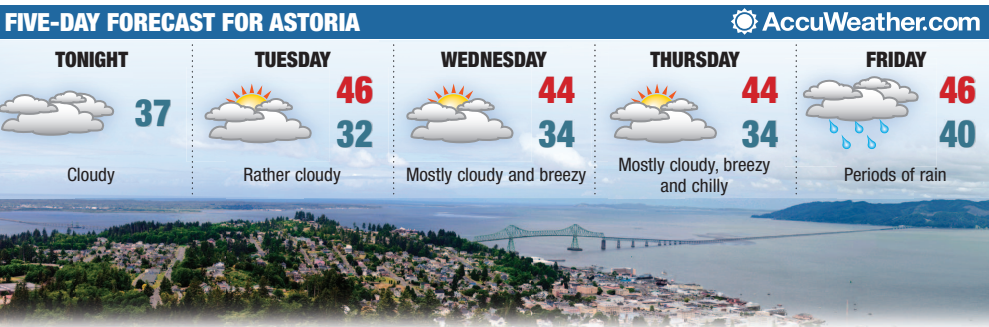

He will always be remembered for the love he gave us all, as well as being a loving and devoted father, grandfather and son to his parents. And to his friends, he will be remembered as just that, a true friend. He will always be remembered for the love he had for dogs.

~You'll be in our hearts, always and forever, Scott Sr., never forgotten. When I look out to sea, I will see you, my dear Scott, from the other part of your heart. We love you, and we miss you always, Your Family~

Two arrested following Seaside car theft, chase

One suspect still at large

The Daily Astorian

Two Seaside residents are in custody and one is still at large after allegedly stealing a car in front of a Seaside home sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

Autumn Brelin, 20, and Cyrus Grabenhorst, 22, were arrested in Beaverton after allegedly trying to use a stolen credit card at a gas station in North Plains just after 8 a.m. Sunday, the Washington County Sheriff's Office said. Deputies are still looking for Jacob Terrill, 30.

Sometime between 6 and 7 a.m. Sunday, vacationers in a home on North Prom reported that their car had gone missing, Seaside Police spokesman Jon Rahl said.

Jacob Terrill

After Seaside Police informed local deputies of the suspects' whereabouts, the stolen car — a 2015 white Subaru Outback — was seen traveling east on U.S. Highway 26. Deputies and Beaverton Police attempted to stop the car at Southwest Cedar Hills Boulevard and Southwest Park Way. When the three people inside did not stop, deputies and police briefly pursued the vehicle south on Cedar Hills. After the car ran a red light a few blocks away, they decided to end the pursuit in order to not endanger the public, deputies said.

A few minutes later, 911 calls indicated that the suspects had parked the vehicle a couple of miles away and ran in different directions. Police and deputies then surrounded the area and searched for the suspects with a dog unit. Two of the suspects were arrested within an hour, deputies said.

Police recovered a photo of Terrill from a stolen camera inside the car. All of the stolen belongings are believed to have been returned to the vacationers in Seaside, Rahl said.

The Washington County Sheriff's Office has asked that anyone with information about the burglary and theft or any of the suspects call 503-629-0111.

At Custom Threads, a life knit large

Sewing and yarn shop to close

By EDWARD STRATTON
The Daily Astorian

After more than 20 years in the Shanahan Building on Commercial Street and nearly 30 in downtown Astoria, Eda Lindstrom is closing Custom Threads at the end of February, making way for Garbo's Vintage Wear.

The building, which was recently purchased by Garbo's owner Lynn Hadley, also includes antique shops Whatnots & Whimsies and Posey-Reed, which will stay open.

Lindstrom, 74, had worked for Fabric Land before opening Custom Threads downtown in 1989 near her current location.

"My mother-in-law (Ethlyn Lindstrom) was a knitter, and I was a sewer," Lindstrom said. "So we decided we'd have a little sewing and yarn shop."

Over the years, Lindstrom helped organize various fundraisers and community efforts, from collecting blankets for those in need and quilting competitions to knitalongs covering public property in knitted cozies.

When she started, Lindstrom said, there were two or three clothing shops downtown. Custom Threads became known as a specialty shop for clothing and other alterations. Now, she said, there is more of a tourist focus downtown, with older, more utilitarian businesses fading away.

"What I think I see it devolving to is coffee shops ... and all the little (antique) kinds of things," she said. "I think it's becoming more of like novelty things people go looking for."

Big box competitors

Lindstrom said she is also concerned about the new Walmart in Warrenton driving shoppers away from downtown to the North Coast Retail Center.

"It's going to have to be pretty special to make them want to come to downtown," she said. "I fully expect pretty much the demise of downtown Astoria, and Warrenton and Seaside as far as any really viable shops, just because once the traffic pattern changes, they don't go back."

Had she been given the chance by Hadley, Lindstrom said, she would have liked to continue her shop, but she is looking forward to catching up on 28 years worth of housework, while continuing to do alterations for her 15 to 20 core customers.

"I've spent all these years being tied to not being able to go anywhere or do anything," she said. "So I kind of want to see what the rest of the world's doing."

Lindstrom said her shop has a closeout sale through closing day Feb. 28.

New Garbo's

Hadley's shop, Garbo's Vintage Wear, was displaced last year by a new marijuana dispensary in the works next to Tori Sushi.

Hadley said she is sad to see a shop like Custom Threads go away, but that she wanted to keep a presence on Commercial Street, and found the 4,500-square-foot Shanahan Building was for sale. Hadley said she hopes to have Garbo's open in the new location by March, in time for the cruise ship season.
