Astoria's Samuelson is finalist for 4-H National Congress

Henry Samuelson

Henry Samuelson of Astoria has recently been selected as a finalist in the state 4-H National Congress competition. If selected, he will represent Oregon at the competition in Atlanta.

Samuelson has kept his 4-H record book updated since he began 4-H, and has been involved in many aspects of 4-H through the years. He worked hard to complete the necessary forms to prepare a competitive resume.

Because of the quality of his application, he has now been invited to the Oregon State University summer conference in June, where he will interview along with other finalists from around Oregon. A small number of finalists will be selected for this honor.

For information about 4-H membership or 4-H leadership, call 503-325- 8573.

WARRENTON — Ashley Fish and Sarah Stein, seniors at Warrenton High School, have been selected to receive the L.R. Hitchman Family Achievement Award.

Fish has earned a weighted GPA of 4.13. She is a National Honors Society member, and has been a very active student assistant in the technology department. The achievement she cited for the award was winning first place in calculus in the Northwest Regional Math Competition. She has been actively attending classes at Clatsop Community College, and plans to attend Portland State University to pursue a career in criminology.

Stein has a GPA of 4.22, and is also a National Honor Society member. Overcoming injuries and running in cross country and track were the achievements she cited for the award. She has been studying at CCC and will have earned an Oregon Transfer Module by the end of the summer term, allowing her to enter Oregon State University in the fall as a sophomore. She plans to earn a master's degree in microbiology.

The $1,000 Hitchman Award was established 28 years ago, and is offered to a selected junior or senior at WHS to defray higher education expenses. Occasionally, more than one recipient is chosen. Interested students can apply through the school.

The award was founded in 1988 by Mary Hitchman Taylor and Alice Hitchman Hayden as a tribute to their parents who resided in Warrenton for over 50 years.

Proposed Rainforest Reserve receives grant from alliance

SEASIDE — Protection of a proposed natural area adjacent to Oswald West State Park by North Coast Land Conservancy got a boost recently with the award of a $45,000 grant from The Conservation Alliance.

The proposed Rainforest Reserve is part of a 3,500-acre summit-to-sea corridor originally envisioned by Oregon's first state parks superintendent, Samuel Boardman, nearly a century ago.

The NCLC is one of 20 organizations from throughout the country to share $850,000 in support this spring from The Conservation Alliance, a Bend-based group representing more than 200 outdoor businesses nationwide. The Alliance's collective contributions support grassroots environmental organizations and their efforts to protect wild places where outdoor enthusiasts recreate.

The conservancy was nominated by Manzanita-based photographer and alliance member Justin Bailie.
