Portland Guitar Duo recounts the journey of two versatile instruments

NEHALEM — “Guitarology” — a narrated concert, featuring the Portland Guitar Duo, that traces the evolution of the guitar and lute — will take place 3 p.m. Sunday, April 30, at St. Catherine Episcopal Church (36335 U.S. Highway 101, Nehalem).

Portland Guitar Duo

This live look at the history of two versatile instruments — a history spanning five centuries — is the brainchild of Foti Lycouridis and James Manuele, who have been performing together as the Portland Guitar Duo since 1999.

The concert “showcases Renaissance and Baroque lutes, Baroque guitars, authentic 19th century romantic guitars and 10-string and modern guitars, coupled with commentary on aesthetics, repertoire, playing techniques, instrument construction and composers,” according to press materials.

Regular admission is $15, seniors and students $12 at the door. Cash, check and credit card are accepted.

Lycouridis and Manuele have performed nationally as soloists and duet partners, with chamber ensembles and on TV and radio stations.

Lycouridis grew up in Athens, Greece, and came to the U.S. in 1981 to study music at the University of Portland, where he graduated with a Bachelor of Music in Guitar Performance and later obtained a Master of Music in Music Theory. He has transcribed the music of Mozart, Cimarosa, Chopin, Ravel, Satie, Cage, Mompou and Hatzidakis for guitar duo, trio and quartet.

Manuele studied graduated from Mansfield University with a Bachelor of Music. He earned a Master of Music at Portland State University. He now teaches guitar at Clark College and Concordia University, and has published instructional DVDs and a method manual.

For more information, contact the duo at 503-314-0038, or St. Catherine at 503-457-5246. Visit the duo at www.portlandguitar duo.com.
