'Legend of Beards Hollow' author comes to Adelaide's

OCEAN PARK, WASH. — Local author Kent D. Walsh will be at Adelaide's Coffee & Books (1401 Bay Ave.) 1 to 4 p.m., Saturday, April 29, to discuss his recently released book, "Legend of Beards Hollow," an action-romance set on the Long Beach Peninsula.

The novel tells the story of William Robinson, who was captured by pirates, escaped into the sea and drifted for days with little food or water before a merchant ship rescued him. After a shipwreck on the Columbia River Bar, William washes ashore on Beards Hollow. He meets and marries Elizabeth, the love of his life. In the face of severe financial difficulty, he begins a search for pirate treasure buried in the sands of a large cove: Beards Hollow, a place filled with secrets.

The book is sold through the publisher, BookLocker.com, Inc., at <http://booklocker.com/book/9113.html>, amazon.com, barnesandnoble.com or anywhere books are sold. It is available in both paperback and ebook formats.

Astoria High School Holds annual fishing derby fundraiser

FORT STEVENS — The Fisheries Technology class at Astoria High School will hold its seventh annual Aquatic Biology Program Fishing Derby Fundraiser at Coffenbury Lake, Fort Stevens State Park from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 29.

The class will be releasing into the lake about 70 color-tagged 1- to 4-pound rainbow trout, which have been reared by students in the campus hatchery.

Ticket sales begin at 7 a.m. Fishermen will buy tickets for $10 apiece at the lake from students, to earn the right to redeem these specially marked fish for prizes.

Prizes for sponsors will be given out. Businesses interested in becoming a sponsor can contact Lee Cain at lcain@astoria.k12.or.us.

Fisheries Technology is the culminating class in a two-year Aquatic Biology Program, a one-of-a-kind program in the western U.S. Because of its hands-on, real-world approach to learning, projects and field trips require materials and expenses above what the science department budget can cover, making fundraising a necessity.

History & Hops

SEASIDE — What is Seaside's connection to the song "Louie, Louie"? Where, when and how did the Miss Oregon Pageant begin? What was the Dahlia Parade about? How did Seaside recover from the dip in popularity as a family vacation spot after the riots in Seaside in 1962 and 1999?

Find out at the next History & Hops, a free local history lecture hosted by the Seaside Museum and Historical Society, at 6 p.m. Thursday, April 27, at Seaside Brewing Co. (851 Broadway St.).

Gloria Linkey, a Seaside native and author, will discuss the music, mayhem and merriment that has shaped Seaside.

Make Naselle's 'Little Mermaid' part of your world

NASELLE, WASH. — The Naselle High School Drama Club is mounting a production of Disney's "The Little Mermaid Jr." that will run Friday, April 28, through Sunday, May 7, at the high school commons.

The 60-minute musical features all of the songs from the 1989 animated film and three songs from the 2008 Broadway show.

Set in a kingdom under the sea, "The Little Mermaid Jr." tells the story of Ariel, a young mermaid who longs to leave her ocean home to live in the world above.

The show is open to the public, and will be performed at Naselle-Grays River Valley School Commons. Admission is $10; children under 5 admitted for free.

Performances dates: 7 p.m. Friday, April 28; 7 p.m. Saturday, April 29; 2 p.m. Sunday, April 30; 7 p.m. Friday, May 5; 7 p.m. Saturday, May 6; 2 p.m. Sunday, May 7.
