"Wallflower" (ceramic and mixed metals sculpture) by Aggie Zed

Imprint Gallery

Imprint Gallery is the newest addition to the cluster of fine-art galleries that makes Cannon Beach one of the top 100 Small Art Towns in America.

The gallery is set over two floors; the ground floor represents a diverse range of medias, while the second floor is dedicated to original printmaking, with a gallery and adjacent studio.

The nature of the work shown in Imprint Gallery is indicative of the owners', Mike and Jane Brumfield's eclectic and somewhat eccentric taste, and tends to have an element of narrative.

Jane Brumfield has had a thirty-year career in the visual arts, working in museum galleries in the UK, and latterly as a gallery owner in Hastings, England, and Boise, Idaho. Mike Brumfield comes from a very different background, recently retiring from a 40-year career in the oil field. His knowledge in art is informed through collecting and co-owning three galleries with Jane.

For Spring Unveiling, the gallery will be introducing the work of Maggie Taylor, Aggie Zed and Julie Byrne, in the lower gallery; and Angie Purviance, Liza Jones, Jani Hoberg, and Michael Barnes in the 2nd-floor printmaking gallery.

The gallery's studio will be offering demonstrations that foster a better understanding of original printmaking throughout the Spring Unveiling Festival.
