WORKING LIKE A DOG!

Have you ever heard someone say, "I've been working like a dog"? People say this when they work really hard.

Some people say this phrase started because sheepdogs guard sheep from dawn until dusk, with only food, a place to sleep and affection as their pay.

Help the sheepdog find all the sheep on this page.

Dogs have been sharing their lives with humans for at least 12,000 years. Since early times, dogs have helped people in many ways.

Standards Link: Life Science: Animals have structures that serve different functions in survival.

Super Sniffers to the Rescue

Dogs have a better sense of smell than humans. They can detect one drop of blood in five quarts of water!

With their ultra-sensitive noses, dogs are masters at finding buried land mines. Mine-sniffing dogs have helped prevent thousands of injuries and deaths in war-torn countries.

Trained sniffers also find people trapped in collapsed buildings and drugs hidden in suitcases. Some dogs have been trained to sniff out termites in buildings.

Standards Link: Reading Comprehension: Students read grade-level appropriate material.

Fido has sniffed out something buried under the sand. Connect the dots in alphabetical order!

Canine Companions

Dogs who help people in their everyday lives are called canine companions and assistance dogs. Some dogs are carefully trained to perform tasks that help the blind, deaf, or physically-impaired.

Help Molly (the guide dog) lead Mark safely through the park.

Animal Messengers

Most homing pigeons continually return to their nests. Some people used to put this instinct to use. If they wanted to send a message home when they were traveling, they would write it on lightweight paper, roll it into a tube on a homing pigeon's leg, release the bird and have the message fly home with the pigeon.

Homing pigeons have been used in remote areas to send requests for emergency help. They were used frequently in World War I to send messages from troops in the field. Homing pigeon Cher Ami was awarded the French award for heroism, the Croix de Guerre, for delivering 12 important messages, despite being shot once.
