

Clatsop youth can audition for 'Alice in Wonderland'

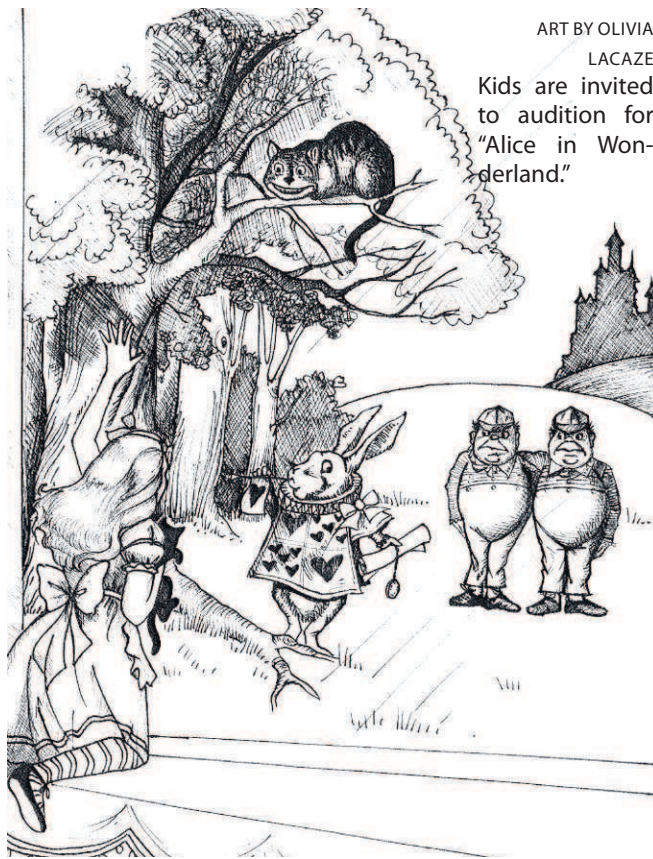

SEASIDE — The time has come for all young theater lovers in Clatsop County to take a trip to Wonderland.

During the summer, all local grade-school children, from elementary to high school students, have the opportunity to take part in a production of "Alice in Wonderland (and Back Again)," written by Randy Wyatt and based on the books by Lewis Carroll.

The play, offered as a summer program for the Sunset Empire Park & Recreation District, will be directed by local stage actress Katherine Lacaze.

Auditions will be held at 5:30 p.m. Friday, June 9, at the Bob Chisholm Community Center (1225 Avenue A).

"The play features dozens of fun roles, large and small, including Alice, the Queen and King of Hearts, the Mad Hatter, the White Rabbit, and flowers, soldiers and jurors galore," Lacaze wrote.

No prior acting experience is necessary.

Rehearsals will take place in Seaside a couple of times per week from mid-June to August. Performances are scheduled for Friday, Aug. 18, Saturday, Aug. 19, and Sunday, Aug. 20, at the Seaside Civic and Convention Center (415 First Ave.).

The program is being provided to children for free, thanks to support from the recreation district and a grant from the Clatsop County Cultural Coalition.

Organizers also are looking for community volunteers to help with costumes, set design and stage management. For more information or audition requirements, contact Lacaze at 503-741-5668 or find "Alice Comes to Seaside" on Facebook.

Acclaimed architect John Yeon subject of Portland exhibition

PORTLAND — The Portland Art Museum has launched an exhibition of the work of John Yeon, a celebrated Pacific Northwest architect, planner, environmentalist and historic preservationist.

At age 21, Yeon, who died in 1994, borrowed on a life insurance policy to purchase Chapman Point south of Ecola State Park and thereby preserve a beloved section of the coastline.

The exhibition, titled "Quest for Beauty: The Architecture, Landscapes, and Collections of John Yeon," opened May 13.

"Yeon is most widely remembered as an architect, in particular for a series of innovative houses — most prominently, the 1937 Aubrey Watzek House — that drew an international spotlight to regional modernism in the Pacific Northwest," the museum wrote.

Beaver art comes to Astoria Art Loft

ASTORIA — Following May's "Beaver Tales" art exhibit in Seaside, the Astoria Art Loft will open an art exhibit Tuesday, June 6, about beavers and their place in the natural environment.

From 5 to 8 p.m. June 10, during Astoria's Second Saturday Art Walk, Jo

Pomeroy-Crockett, the loft's co-owner, said she "expects to have one or more speakers on hand to talk about the artwork and about beavers' contributions to the coastal landscape," organizers said.

Before the art walk, from 1 to 4 p.m., the loft will celebrate the show's opening. A portion of the proceeds from sales of work in the beaver art show — which features work by adults and children — will benefit the North Coast Land Conservancy.

The gallery (106 Third St.) is open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.
