

Design students showcase work during art hike

ASTORIA — Students from Clatsop Community College's basic design class will showcase their spring term projects during an art hike in a local forest Friday, June 2.

The projects for the "Shinrin-Yoku Art Hike" have an ecological theme and will be installed along the trail connecting the college to the Astoria Column. The trail can be accessed from the east end of the lower parking lot. Flags crated by Lives in Transition students will signal the trail entrance.

The project is inspired by the Japanese concept "Shinrin-Yoku Forest Bathing," a form of healing that involves wandering along a forest trail and spending time in nature, according to press materials. The art hike is also inspired by Marco Davis' "A Sunday in the Park with Art."

From 12:30 to 2 p.m. and 4 to 5:30 p.m., the event will feature special performances, including belly dancing by Varyin Parham and Allystar Green. Dave Drury, a college guitar instructor, will help kick off the event by performing on the trail between 12:30 and 1 p.m.

PHOTO BY ANNGELINA CHASTEEN

In addition, the event will feature the college Rocks

Campaign, an off-shoot of the Astoria Rocks group, in which hand-painted rocks are placed along the trail for hikers to find.

PHOTO BY ANNGELINA CHASTEEN

"If you are lucky enough to spot a rock along the trail, you may keep it or relocate it for another hiker to discover," organizers wrote.

The painted rocks have been created not only by the design students taught by Instructor Kristin Shauck, but by watercolor students, Lives in Transition students, Talent Search middle school students, and creative non-fiction students.

Celebrate the 119th anniversary of the North Head Lighthouse

ILWACO, WASH. — Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission and Keepers of the North Head Lighthouse invite the public to help celebrate the 119th anniversary of the North Head Lighthouse at Cape Disappointment State Park in Ilwaco, Washington.

Numerous events will take place to celebrate the lighthouse's birthday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 3, at Cape Disappointment State Park, 244 Robert Gray Dr. Parking and a free shuttle to the lighthouse will be available at the Cape D Café. Parking is also available at the North Head Lighthouse parking area. A Discover Pass will not be needed for vehicle access to the park that day because Saturday, June 3, is a State Parks "Free Day," in recognition of National Trails Day.

This fun family event will feature music, Sonshine the Clown, an open house at a lighthouse keeper's residence, a store, a small museum with exhibits related to the lighthouse and surrounding area, guided historical hikes at noon and 1 p.m., cake and refreshments.

A special offering will be

MATT WINTERS/CHINOOK OBSERVER
North Head Lighthouse is surrounded by scaffolding as a once-in-a-generation renovation goes on, but the surrounding trails still offer some of the Pacific Northwest's best scenery.

tours of the Maya Lin-designed art installations in Cape Disappointment at 3 p.m. Installations will include the cedar grove, the Confluence Boardwalk and the Fish Cleaning Table.

The lighthouse is undergoing restoration and is closed for tours at this time. But event participants may take an easy walk to the lighthouse and enjoy stunning views of the Pacific Ocean and the coast. The lighthouse is now sheathed with scaffolding. By the end of summer, State Parks expects the current phase of restoration to be completed, with more exterior work scheduled to be done — including stonework and stucco on the base of the tower and workroom. The estimated time for completion of the lighthouse renovation is late 2018.

The celebration kicks off the North Head Lighthouse raffle, which directly benefits lighthouse restoration. The prize for the raffle is a two-night stay at a keeper's residence for six, plus dinner for six at the Depot Restaurant in Seaview during their stay. This offer must be used between October 2017 and March 2018.

For more information, contact Keepers of the North Head Lighthouse representative Janet Easley via easleyhj@centurytel.net, at 360-665-5580, or Lona Niemi at lniemi@yahoo.com or 360-642-2502, or call Cape Disappointment at 360-642-3029.

Jason M. Goodding Memorial Cornhole Tournament honors officer's legacy

SEASIDE — Two Seaside High School students are helping with the second annual Jason Goodding Memorial Cornhole Tournament, a fundraiser that will be held noon Saturday, June 17, at the Seaside Elks Lodge (324 Ave. A).

Registration begins at 11:30 a.m., but early online registration is also encouraged. All ages are welcome. The cost is $100 for a two-person team. Participation in the tournament is not mandatory. All-day admission is $5. Anyone unable to register on the Facebook page can do so at the event location.

The event will include a two-person, double elimination tournament, a performance by Fifth Alarm Band, food, a beer garden, a raffle and an auction.

The silent auction and raffle include trip and athletic packages. Local businesses are donating prizes, from restaurant gift cards to rounds of golfs.

Approximately 50 teams are expected to compete. A National Cornhole League Chairman will be running the tournament.

On Feb. 5, 2016, Goodding, a Seaside police sergeant, was shot and killed in the line of duty. The tournament honors Jason and his legacy of community service.

Proceeds are marked for the Jason Goodding scholarship of $1,000 that will go to a Seaside High School graduate pursuing a career in teaching or criminal justice.

The Seaside students' participation is for their Pacific Project, a graduation requirement. Students must perform 50 hours of community service, followed by a presentation before a board of prominent community members.

JASON GOODDING

But, the students said, this "is not a project to us, it is a way to help carry on Jason's legacy, and what he stood for as a person."