

CONTACT US
 Erick Bengel | Features Editor
 ebengel@dailyastorian.com

WEEKEND BREAK

FOLLOW US
 facebook.com/
 DailyAstorian

A property covered in protest signs in the Alderbrook neighborhood

Paintings by Noel Thomas, July 2017

Astoria artist paints Alderbrook property

The Daily Astorian

The dilapidated house

The Daily Astorian recently published a story about a derelict house in Alderbrook. Protest signs cover the structure and property, which has an old trailer and a few rusted-out cars in the yard.

Noel Thomas, a prominent Astoria painter, said he had to go take a look.

“These are my results from a couple of afternoons painting on site,” he wrote.

Thomas is one of 37 artists participating in the Astoria Open Studios Tour, held Saturday and Sunday, July 29 and 30. At 20 locations, these artists will open their studios to the public and give live demonstrations.

A rusted-out car on the property