Late Craft3 CEO Berdes honored for his life's work

The Daily Astorian

The Opportunity Finance Network, a national network for community development financial institutions, posthumously gave the late John Berdes, the founder and former president and CEO of Craft3, the 2017 Ned Gramlich Lifetime Achievement Award for Responsible Finance.

The award was presented Wednesday at the finance network's conference in Washington, D.C. Berdes died of lung cancer last year.

Madelyn Gollifer, Berdes' sister, accepted the award.

Berdes helped found Craft3, then called ShoreBank Enterprise Pacific, in 1994 in Ilwaco, Washington. Since its founding, Craft3 has invested more than $440 million with 5,500 people and businesses in Oregon and Washington state.

Also receiving the award posthumously was Linda

Speed of payments to Medicaid providers varies

By CLAIRE WITHYCOMBE
Capital Bureau

SALEM — Although the state dispensed $4.9 billion in medical assistance payments to coordinated care organizations in 2016, the Oregon Health Authority doesn't track how long it takes those CCOs to pay Medicaid service providers.

Medicaid serves 1.1 million Oregonians who meet certain income eligibility requirements. Oregon paid $6.7 billion to health care providers who saw Medicaid patients in 2016.

Most people on the Oregon Health Plan are enrolled in one of the state's 16 coordinated care organizations — essentially, regional groups of providers that see low-income patients.

Each CCO has a contract with the Oregon Health Authority to provide Medicaid services for a monthly per-patient fee, known as a capitated payment. The health authority makes those payments on the first of the month.

The CCO in turn pays its providers, and those arrangements — including the length of time in which payments are made for medical services — vary.

For FamilyCare, a Portland-area CCO, more than 98 percent of its claims are paid within 30 days, according to spokesman Jack Coleman. Ninety percent are made within 14 days.

Capsized boater rescued near Social Security Beach

The Daily Astorian

A boater was rescued from the Columbia River today after his vessel capsized near Social Security Beach on Clatsop Spit.

Chris Kiepkie and his friend Loyd Burleson were crabbing about 300 yards offshore from Social Security Beach when they saw a man on a nearby vessel bailing out water before his boat capsized.

"He was about 100 yards from us," Kiepkie said. "We sped over there."

Kiepkie and Burleson got a rope around the man, who was wearing a life jacket, and pulled him in, later transferring him to the Clatsop County Sheriff's Office Marine Patrol. The man's boat washed ashore on Social Security Beach.

Despite fishing on the river for 30 years, Kiepkie said this is the first time he's ever rescued anyone. "We feel really good about it, and we were really happy we were able to get him in," he said.
