POINT of view

THE DAILY ASTORIAN // QUESTION OF THE WEEK

"Thanksgiving is coming up soon. What are you thankful for?"

"I'm thankful that God created all this beauty for his pleasure and our pleasure. That's a good thing to be thankful for."

Sheila Linson, Portland

"Health. Work."

Barry Brown, Astoria

"I'm thankful for family and no natural disasters. And I'm thankful for freedom."

James Andrew, Astoria

OBITUARIES

Loren L. Stineman

Astoria
June 11 1932 — Nov. 4 2017

Loren was born in Grandview, Iowa, on June 11, 1932, to Frank and Inez Paris Stineman.

He graduated from Wapello High School in 1950. Following graduation, Loren enlisted in the Navy in March 1951, and he was stationed in Japan aboard a troop transport ship. He later transferred to Tongue Point Naval Shipyard, where he served until March 1955.

Loren Stineman

It was during his service in Astoria where he met Patricia McKenna, and they married on March 6, 1954. They lived and raised their family in Astoria, Oregon. Loren worked in the grocery business at Astoria Public Market for many years, then worked at Upper Town Market & Deli, and also at Main Street Market in Warrenton, Oregon, until his retirement.

Loren enjoyed many hobbies including gardening, playing cards, crossword puzzles, camping with his family and his always-present cob pipe on his front deck. He especially enjoyed getting together for picnics with his growing family and friends. He also was a great cook, and some of his special dishes will never be quite the same without his special touch. He was also a longtime member of Clatsop Post 12 American Legion.

Loren was preceded in death by his parents, Frank and Inez Paris Stineman; a sister, Beverly Ann; and six brothers, Delno, Donald (Tine), Howard, Richard, Robert and Max.

He is survived by his twin sister, Lois Bonnichsen of Wapello, Iowa; and four children, daughter Lois and her husband, Woody Nirschel, daughter Lisa and her husband, Mark Hawkins, son Richard and his wife, Kathryn Stineman, and son Robert and his wife, Rachel Stineman; 13 grandchildren; and 19 great-grandchildren. He will be deeply missed by all. Private graveside services will be held at Greenwood Cemetery.

All who knew and loved Loren are welcome to a celebration of life, which will be held at the Astoria Recreation Center (the old Astoria Yacht Club), 1555 W. Marine Drive, at 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 18.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Clatsop Post 12 American Legion Scholarship Fund, 1132 Exchange St., Astoria, OR, 97103.

Michael Karna

Astoria
Sept. 17, 1948 — Nov. 12, 2017

Michael Karna

Michael Jack Karna, 69, died peacefully on Nov. 12, 2017, at the Forest Grove Rehabilitation and Care Center after a prolonged illness.

Michael was a lifelong resident of Astoria, Oregon. He owned and operated a construction company specializing in remodeling Victorian homes, and he was an avid photographer, writer and storyteller.

Michael is survived by his wife, Belle Zaha Karna; her son, David; Michael's children, Christopher, Shiloh and Yola from his previous marriage to Gail Johnson; and six grandchildren.

Michael is preceded in death by his parents, Kaarlo and Katherine; his sister, Susan; and his and Gail's daughter, Rachel.

In keeping with Michael's wishes, an intimate family service was held on Nov. 13.

Officials seek state help for businesses impacted by fire

By CLAIRE WITHYCOMBE

SALEM — This summer's harsh fire season left behind economic damages that Oregon officials and members of the business community are still trying to quantify.

Although the state is still researching the extent of the impact, economic development officials want to ask the Legislature in the upcoming short session for funds for low-interest loans for small businesses affected by wildfires, perhaps triggered by an official disaster declaration by the governor.

Reduced revenues and cash flow for businesses due to disruptive wildfires this summer could impact their credit ratings and their access to capital, Jason Lewis-Berry, director of Regional Solutions and a jobs and economy policy adviser to Gov. Kate Brown, told legislators on Tuesday.

The state said last month that the fires didn't impact the unemployment rate statewide, but certain regions suffered higher job losses in September.

About 600 more leisure and hospitality jobs in central Oregon, the Columbia River Gorge and southwest Oregon were cut in September than is typical, according to the Oregon Employment Department.

Lewis-Berry said the state is still collecting data on lodging tax receipts and insurance claims, which may provide a fuller picture of the economic impact.

Special wildfire recovery councils in southwest Oregon and the Columbia River Gorge are also working on recommendations to help local economies bounce back. In those areas, the Chetco Bar and Eagle Creek fires were particularly severe.

"We're trying to have this be a data-driven and locally-driven process to inform the kind of support we can deliver," Lewis-Berry said.

Broader economic impacts were also felt in Eastern Oregon — not only did fires affect air quality, but road closures of Interstate 84 on the state's northern border likely impacted summer travel and commerce, Lewis-Berry told legislators.

"Even though Eastern Oregon technically wasn't directly impacted by the fires, you certainly had a lot of people and businesses that were due to the road closures," Lewis-Berry said.
